

Initiative And Referendum Bill Wins In Senate

Huber Resolution Expected To Go Through In Assembly

PASSED BY 18 TO 14 VOTE

Uniform Sleigh Bill Is Defeated Through Effort Of Farmers

By Associated Press

Madison.—The initiative and referendum as provided for in the Huber resolution to amend the constitution to permit the submission of questions to the people upon petition, was adopted by a majority of the senate Thursday and sent to the lower house. They vote was 18 to 14. Under this proposal adoption of which is anticipated by a large majority in the assembly, people of the state may petition to have bills introduced into the legislature, submitted to them for a vote before they finally become law. Amendments to the constitution may be proposed and voted on in a like manner.

The assembly voted 56 to 41 for a constitutional convention to be called to revise the basic law of Wisconsin, should the people so determine. This same proposal now adopted by the assembly was killed in the senate two weeks ago by a margin of one vote. The lower house action will again force the issue in the upper house when the resolution reaches it for consideration.

DEFEAT SLEIGH BILL

An attempt to pass the sleigh bill requiring the width between sledge runners to be uniformly set at three feet and six inches was unsuccessful in the assembly when farmers united to bring about its defeat. The lower house first voted to reconsider the vote by which the proposal was indefinitely postponed last week and then killed the bill 48 to 45.

Approval was given the Schaefer bill prohibiting the conservation commission to confiscate property of persons violating the state game laws except upon approval of the judge trying the case.

The senate, 17 to 14, killed the Polakowski resolution calling for a constitutional amendment to permit the state to operate its own printing plant.

"CONVICT MADE"

Goods made by convict labor in Wisconsin will have to bear a label with the words "convict made" with name of institution, under a bill by Assemblyman E. H. Killian, Watertown, which was recommended for passage by the committee on commerce and manufactures Wednesday.

The complete barring of high school fraternities from the public schools of Wisconsin was favored by the state senate Wednesday night when it sent to the congress the Lange bill forbidding secret societies.

Party lines at primary elections in Wisconsin would be obliterated by enactment of the Carey bill passed by the state senate. This proposal of Senator A. E. Carey, Edgerton, would permit voters to scratch their ballots at the primary to scratch in different party columns. Socialist members opposed passage on the ground that the bill proposed to practically do away with parties in the state.

The senate passed the Ridgeway fireworks bill prohibiting the sale of fireworks in the state except for specific purposes.

The wearing of masks or hoods in any public place in Wisconsin is barred under provisions of a bill introduced by the senate Thursday by the committee on judiciary.

Persons "practically or completely concealed by means of a mask, regalia or paraphernalia with intent to conceal their identity" would be guilty of a misdemeanor and punishable by a $1,000 fine or by imprisonment for six months, if the bill is enacted.

COUNTY TAKES FIRST STEP TO BAN T. B. COWS

Instructs County Agent-elect To Petition State For Countywide Test

SEEK AMUSEMENT CONTROL

State Will Be Asked For Law Regulating Public Pleasure Resorts

Countywide eradication of tuberculosis among dairy cattle is the first task to be asked officially of R. A.
Amundson, the new county agent who will arrive here from Oconto
April 1.

In a resolution introduced by Superior Culbertson at the county board meeting Thursday morning and adopted on suspension of rules, instructions were given Mr. Amundson to proceed with this undertaking. The resolution read:

Resolved, That the county agricultural agent is hereby instructed to proceed at once upon assuming his duties to assist the several towns of the county in preparing and circulating petitions asking the state agricultural department to apply the tuberculin test to all the cattle in the county.

STATE MAKES TEST

Outagameco. In this move, will take advantage of the law by which the state will send its experts here to test all dairy herds without charge.

The county thus will be freed from tubercular cattle and will be kept free of the disease for all time through continual testing for reactors. A certain number of signers to a petition to this effect is required by the state.

Chairman D. J. Ryan, announced that Mr. Amundson had planned to attend the meeting of the county board but that he received a letter from the agent stating that he was detained by a farmers institute for which he had arranged before being appointed to his new position.

The resolution relating to the removal of snow from the county highways, which was in effect that the policy of the highway committee was not fully understood and requesting an explanation by the county highway commissioner, was referred to the county-state road and bridge committee after a lengthy discussion.

FARMERS TO SEEK FIXED WHEAT PRICE

Wisconsin Votes Against Resolution At St. Paul Conference

St. Paul.—Selection of delegates from the ten states represented at the North west Agricultural Price Stabilization conference to go to Washington to work for a fixed price for wheat as recommended by the conference will be the next move of the organization to aid the farmer, it was announced here Thursday.

Minnesota's delegation will consist of Colonel C. H. March, Litchfield; P.
E. Wheaton, Murphy and T. E. Cashman, Owatonna. It is expected that other states will name their representatives as soon as possible and arrangements made later for the entire body to go to Washington.

This action follows the two-day agricultural conference concluded here Wednesday at which a resolution was adopted calling upon congress to enact the Gooding bill which would provide a basic minimum of $1.75 a bushel for wheat at terminals. The resolution also urged that in the event congress failed to take any action, the present session President Harding should call a special session to insure relief for the farmer.

Four states—Wisconsin, Iowa, Minnesota and Michigan—voted against this resolution while the six others represented at the conference—Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebrska, Montana and Kansas—voted in favor of it.

FREIGHT HANDLERS GET PAY INCREASE

Chicago.—An increase of 2 cents an hour for 65,000 freight handlers and station laborers on approximately 41 railroads and subsidiaries became effective Thursday.

At the same time an eight-hour day with punitive overtime went into effect for 22,000 members of the Brotherhood of railway and steamship clerks, freight handlers, express and station employees.

A decision promulgating these changes was issued by the United States Railroad Labor board. It stated that each employee should have one day off a week, preferably Sunday. In case that day could not be given it suggested that another day be granted and provided time and one-half pay for employees working on regular days.

W. B. COCKRAN, CONGRESSMAN, DIES SUDDENLY

Delivered Speech In House
Wednesday Night—
Suffers Stroke

Washington.—Representative W.
Burke Cockran, Democrat, New York, died suddenly Thursday.

Mr. Cockran who celebrated his sixty-ninth birthday Wednesday, became ill at night and died Thursday.
He was on the floor of the house
Wednesday night and made a spirited speech in opposition to the pending farm credits bill.

Mr. Cockran's death, which occurred at 7:30 o'clock, came as an immediate result of a stroke of apoplexy.
It was said at his home.

A native of Ireland, educated in France and the United States and active for many years in the legal profession and in politics, Mr. Cockran was one of the picturesque forces in American public life. He was an orator of the old school, endowed with a remarkable voice and with a welcome and diction that long ago won him a place among the most eloquent orators of the country.

In politics Mr. Cockran was a wholly of the Tammany hall, whose battles he fought in New York and elsewhere on many occasions.

LOWLY CABBAGE ARISTOCRAT NOW

More Sad News For Jiggs As Prices Rise As High As
$97.50 A TON

Chicago.—Cabbage rose from the ranks of the lowly vegetables to heights occupied by aristocrats of the kingdom last week, figuring in a sensational price spurt that sent quotations as high as 4 and 5 cents a pound or $97.50 a ton, for new Texas stock, the United States bureau of agricultural economics said Thursday.

The record price for the season was set at St. Louis but proportionately higher prices were noted elsewhere. Even increased railroad shipments from New York and Wisconsin failed to check the raise.

Danish type cabbage, according to statistics compiled as of last Monday ranged from $60 to $62 a ton in Chicago, an increase of $10 a ton over the previous week. At other markets
New York, Philadelphia and Cincinnati, the prices jumped from $5 to $20 a ton.

But the spurt taken by Texas stock was the most rapid of all, the market opening last week at $75 a ton and closing the week at $97.50.

The heavy shrinkage of storage stocks and relatively light storage holdings tended to excite the market. Speculators were reported operating at shipping points in western New York and prices to shippers at the transportation centers in the producing areas increased from $35 to $40 a ton.

Farm Credit Bill Wins In Congress

Washington.—The farm credits bill, proposing the establishment of two new banking systems, one government and the other private, to meet the financial needs of the agricultural industry was passed by the house. It now goes to conference.

members from New York and the new England states.

"Jeff" Doesn't Know Whom He Owes $292,183

what he owes each.

In his petition he asked permission of the court to be allowed to amend his bill by inserting the names of creditors and amounts due to them as soon as he learned who and what they were.

He gave his total liabilities as $292,

WANTED: OFFICIAL PEACE DOVES ONLY

France Lends Deaf Ear To Volunteer Envoys In Reparations Question

By Associated Press

Paris.—None but official overtures will be acceptable in connection with any agreement for settlement of the Ruhr and reparations questions. It was asserted in French official circles Thursday. It was pointed out that there had been a new descent upon Paris of unofficial intermediaries from financial and industrial quarters and various international centers, including New York, each with various complaints and plans for settlement.

Dusseldorf.—The question of collecting the 40 per cent tax on Ruhr coal came to the fore Thursday in view of General Degoutte's announcement that he would meet this obligation by making offenders liable to trial by court martial and would result in the seizure of coal at the mines.

Before the occupation the coal tax was paid to the German government but the mine owners have refused to turn it over to the French or Belgians.

fact it was in Senator Harry New's honorable convention, if they are they will want him to run and he will accede to their request.

Matters are shaping therefore for a renomination effort Mr. Harding probably will not go into the primaries himself. He has declared himself as opposed to primaries and in favor of the convention system so it will involve no inconsistency on his part to stay out of them; a matter of principle. Meanwhile, Senator Hiram Johnson, Senator La Follette and others will probably seek primary inducements.

NEW IN CABINET MEANS HARDING IS TO RUN AGAIN

President Is Seeking To Regain Lost Hoosier Territory

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Copyright 1923 by The Post Pub. Co.

Washington.—Damon and Pythias never were closer friends than President Harding and the new postmaster general, Harry S. New of Indiana. That tells to some extent why the appointment was made, but not altogether. There's a political significance in the cabinet shift which is inescapable.

It means the beginning of a fight on the part of the Harding administration to recover for the regular Republican national organization control of those states which they lost in the primaries last year. It means a determined effort to place in the hands of the regular organization the control of the next Republican national convention which, of course, signifies the nomination of President Harding if he cares to accept it.

SEEKING LOST GROUND

Within the last three weeks, Mr.
Harding has let his position become known. In fact among others a senator from Indiana, James Watson was the recipient of President Harding's views. The importance of this may be realized when it is recalled that Senator Beveridge has been lined up with former Senator Beveridge in Indiana's factional fight and that Harry New's defeat in the primary primaries was interpreted as a defeat as a rebuke to the Harding administration. Not the best of feelings has prevailed since the Indiana primaries.
It being contended by some of the Beveridge people that Mr. New didn't go out and stump for Beveridge after the latter had won the regular Republican nomination for the United States senate.

No one knows, of course, how many Republicans who voted against Beveridge in the primaries, turned around and helped Samuel Ralston, Democrat, win the final victory in November but it is generally conceded that if Harry New had not been elevated to a post in the cabinet of the president his opportunities to recover lost ground in Indiana polities would have been nil.

NEEDS HOOSIER SUPPORT

Mr. Harding, if he is to be a candidate in 1924, needs the support of Indiana Republicans. Former Senator Beveridge would have been an active presidential candidate if he had won the state last autumn and there is no certainty that he will not figure some how in the contest yet as Republican factionalism in Indiana is far from smoothed out.

The president will run for reelection if his party wants him to do so.
That's the long and short of it today.
What the party wants to do will depend on the personnel of the next Republican convention. If they are regulars and friendly to Mr. Harding, they will want him to run and he will
accede to their request.

Matters are shaping therefore for
a renomination effort Mr. Harding probably will not go into the primaries himself. He has declared himself as opposed to primaries and in favor of the convention system so it will in-

stay out of them; a matter of prin-

EXTRA TAX DRIVES FIRM FROM STATE

By Associated Press

Green Bay.—The Green Bay Foundry and Machine Works, manufacturers of paper mill, packing house and municipal machinery and employing approximately 40 men, will probably move its plant's location to Menominee, Mich., if the proposed taxation program before the Wisconsin legislature is passed, according to a communication to the Press-Gazette from that concern Thursday. Correspondence has already been started relative to the proposed removal to Menominee, it was said.

"The addition of extra taxation on our plant, which we had planned on enlarging, looks as though it will put us out of business," declared R. A.
North, manager. "Our competitors are all located in states that encourage manufacturing instead of attempting to kill it and we must meet this competition to live."

ARREST YOUTH FOR ROBBING FRAT HOUSE

Roland Piper was arrested Wednesday charged with theft of watches, fountain pens, frat pin and money from Phi Kappa Alpha fraternity house. The stolen articles are alleged to have been found in Piper's rooms.

Piper, it appears, had been hard pressed for money and had been borrowing from his friends. In order to meet his delinquent bills he committed the theft in which he was finally trapped. The jewelry was recovered, but the $12 was missing.

A charge of larceny was to be brought against him, but it is understood that the boy's father is about to take him out of college. He is 18 years old and has been at Lawrence one year. His home is in Madison.

Senate Repeals Secrecy Clause

Radical Changes in Tax Program of Wisconsin Are Imminent As Two Measures Are Voted on in Each House

Madison.—Complete repeal of the secrecy clause of the state income tax law was voted Thursday by the Wisconsin senate, 22 to 9, when it sent to congress the Severson bill, opening income returns to the public. A substitute amendment to permit only state, county and local officials to have access to income tax information, was indefinitely postponed 19 to 12.

Passage of the bill sweeping all restrictions from inspection of income statements is accepted as a certainty in the assembly.
This will mean enactment of a platform pledge that served as a central issue in the past political campaign in the state.

FIGHT OVER AMENDMENT

The fight against the proposal on the floor of the senate centered about the sub amendment offered by Senator W. L. Smith, Neilsen. This was classed as a "fraud and a cheat" by Senator Severson, author of the original bill. He pointed out that Governor Blaine voted a similar measure passed by the special session in March 1922.

Reference to the platform pledge made by the Republican party of the state asking repeal of the secrecy clause started the senators on a reshuffle of last and supporting the substitute declared that opponents of the proposal were honest in their convictions and were convinced, as were all tax authorities, that the repeal of the secrecy clause would bring no benefits to the state.
He declared that senators were privileged to oppose platform pledges when they differed with them, and referred to the continual opposition of Senator La Follette to pledges of the national Republican party.

SOLD GOLD BRICK

Senator Smith, defending his substitute told the senators opposing its acceptance that they sold the people of Wisconsin a gold brick when they passed the secrecy clause on a platform for repealing the secrecy clause.

Senator Theodore Burke, Green Bay stallwart, voted against the substitute and for the bill, explaining his vote with the statement that he was ready to "give the people as much radicalism as they wanted."

"They will have some experiments that they never expected before this legislature is over," he asserted.
"Somebody is going to have a chance to use the veto power."

The vote follows. For engross-ment of the bill: Barber, Benney, Bligren, Burke, Cashman, Caspeson, Czerwinski, Garey, Gettelman, Heck, Hirsch, Huber, Johnson, Kemp, Polakowski, Quirk, Ridgway, Schumann, Staudenmayer, Tensdale, and Thies.

Against engrossment: Clark, Kurkauk, Lange, Morris, Rother, Skogmo, Smith, Verden, and White.

By its action the assembly approved a general increase in rates on individual incomes to 1 per cent on the first $1,000 of taxable income and ranging up to 20 per cent on incomes over $75,000. A flat rate of 6 per cent on corporation earnings is called for.

The Dahl bill repeals the personal property tax offset to the income tax adding $5,000,000 annually to the tax returns, repeals the secrecy clause to the income tax, repeals the mill taxes now imposed for the university, normal and common schools and the surtax on incomes to support the teachers retirement fund. It creates a state income tax fund from which applications are made for these specific purposes.

Reapportionment of the returns from the state income tax laws are provided in the bill, which gives the state 50 per cent of the revenue derived, the municipalities 40 per cent and counties 10 per cent. Stock dividends are made taxable by the measure.

The general effect of the bill according to those sponsoring it, is to relieve the farmer, the small merchant and the man with the moderate income and to place a greater burden upon corporations and persons with large earnings. It shifts nearly $7,000,000 of taxes from property on to incomes.

There was little discussion of the proposal by those supporting it when

BESKE AND SMITH SEEK REELECTION TO CITY COUNCIL

Third Ward Faction Urging Frank X. Bachman To Enter Race

Following the firing of the first gun in the political campaign for aldermen, six of whose terms expire this spring, two more candidates, both aldermen, have thrust their chapeau into the political circle.

Alderman H. R. Beske of the Sixth ward has taken out nomination papers with the intention of succeeding himself. He already has opposition in the person of J. H. Fiedler, former alderman.

Al Smith, alderman from the Third ward, has also publicly announced that he will be a candidate for reelection and will take out nomination papers shortly. Alderman Charles Rose of the Fifth ward, is now circulating nomination papers.

A faction in the Third ward has been bringing pressure upon Frank X. Bachman, well known billiard hall proprietor, to have him enter the race. Mr. Bachman says he has been considering becoming a candidate, but has not made up his mind on the subject.

$50 In Prizes Offered For Stories On Appleton As Valley Style Center

Annual Spring Style Week,
From March 12 To 17, To Be Greatest Fashion Event In Northeastern Wisconsin

Appleton's Spring Style week, from March 12 to 17, will offer the shoppers of this territory an opportunity of viewing the most dazzling display of fashion ever attempted in the For river valley and also will give them an opportunity of earning $50 in cash prizes for the best essays on stories describing Appleton as a style center as indicated by the window displays during Spring Style week.

Twelve cash prizes, ranging from $15 to $1 will be given for the best stories of not more than 200 words containing 100 words which will be found in the display windows. The stories are to be submitted to the Style Week Editor of the Post-Crescent. The contest opens Monday night and closes at noon on Saturday, March 17. Prize winners will be announced the following Monday.

BIGGEST IN HISTORY
Style Week this year will be the most stupendous fashion event in the history of northern Wisconsin.

Never before have the merchants made such preparations for the annual display. About 40 merchants selling almost every article of commerce, will cooperate. The formal opening is on Monday and the week closes Saturday night.

Differing from the usual plan there will be no "open house" during the week. Efforts will be concentrated on window displays and they promise to attract thousands of people from all over this territory.

The story contest is just one of the numerous features of the week. The Style pageant in Lawrence Memorial chapel on March 15 and 16 and the award of ribbon prizes to the merchants who have the most attractive display are events which alone are sufficient to excite the interest of the shopping public of the valley.

RULES ARE SIMPLE
Rules for the story contest are simple but they involve visits to the windows of every merchant cooperating in style week. A group of words that must be used in the stories to make them eligible for the prizes will be placed in every window and there will be 100 words in all. All of the 100 words must be used in the story which should be entitled "Appleton as a Style Center." The subject matter should be descriptive of Appleton as the style center as indicated by the window displays. The subject is interesting and no doubt a large number of essays will be contributed. Be sure to address them to Style Week Editor and have them in his hands before 12 o'clock noon, Saturday, March 17. No stories received after that hour will be considered. Remember that the complete story must not contain more than 200 words and all of the 100 words in the display windows must be employed.

NOTE ON DISPLAYS
Another condition connected with the contest is that contestants must fill out the contest entrance blanks which will be printed in The Post-Crescent beginning Monday. This blank form contains spaces for writing in the contestants' vote on what he considers to be the best window display of the week and other spaces for his preferences in each merchant's classification. For example, his first choice as the best department store display, his second choice for best department store display, first choice for best jewelry store display, and so on.

Prize ribbons will be awarded to the merchants whose windows receive the largest vote. A gold ribbon will be given to the merchant having the most beautiful display in the city, a blue ribbon to the merchant with the best display in any classification, and a red ribbon for the second best window.

All persons entering in the essay contest must vote on the windows to be eligible to win the prizes and voting will be restricted to those who submit stories.

Miss Mabel Sibley has returned to her duties as assistant secretary of the chamber of commerce after being confined to her home for several days with grip.

100 IN CAST FOR SPRING REVUE OF STYLES AT CHAPEL

Historical Pageant Will Precede Display Of 1923 Fashion Creations

Plans for the style show in which seven Appleton merchants will participate at Lawrence Memorial chapel on March 15 and 16 indicate that it will be a style revue of the highest order. The cast, which will include 100 Appleton young people is being directed by J. F. Bonmaster.

According to the synopsis of the show, which will be in pageant form, many interesting ways of presenting style models will be used. The pageant will open with a prologue in which a fairy dressed as Spring tells of the spring and of fashions. The first scene will show in pantomime how the first Indian maid draped her blanket in becoming manner. The second will be a colonial scene which will include music, dancing and the presentation of the living picture of the "Spirit of '76."

Another historical scene will depict the 1880 period and show a living picture of Lincoln freeing the slaves. In addition there will be music, dances and styles of that time. In the 1923 period, there will be a scene for each of the merchants who are taking part. Several ingenious ways of displaying the models will be used.

Stores which will take part are Peterson's Feabody company, Geenen Dry Goods company, Gloudehans-Gage company, Thiede Good Clothes, Matt Schmidt and Son, Burton-Dawson Quality shop and Novelty Boot shop.

T. & L. HEARS TALKS ON GREATER CITY

Legislation Report And Bridge Discussion Make Meeting Lively

Appleton Trades and Labor council experienced one of the liveliest meetings of the year Wednesday evening. Interesting addresses were delivered by James Green and J. P. Ballantyne in the interest of the Greater Appleton movement for the promotion of which they asked the cooperation of the Trades and Labor council.

A detailed report was made by Mike Bick, who was sent by the council to Madison as a delegate to the legislative conference of the Wisconsin Federation of Labor last month. He told of the legislation being urged in the interests of labor, such as the eight-hour law, the unemployment insurance compensation bill, and others. The last part of the meeting was taken up with an animated discussion of the Appleton bridge problems. It was found that the members were about as divided over the preference for bridges as the council and the entire city of Appleton itself.

AUTO FLEET BREAKS THROUGH ON '15'

Road Between Neenah And Oshkosh Worst On Entire State Highway

George Nemachek, shop foreman of Walter Implement & Auto company, plotting a fleet of Dodge automobiles from Detroit, was the first driver to break through on highway 15 from Milwaukee since the snowstorm of a few weeks ago. The fleet encountered some very bad snow drifts between Lomira and Byron but was not halted until it arrived at Oshkosh. The roads between Oshkosh and Neenah were considered impassable and the automobiles were placed on the train for the remainder of the trip.

Drivers of cars for the Fond du Lac Dodge dealers became stalled at Slinger, and drivers for Carl Jones, the Green Bay Dodge dealer, got stuck at Oshkosh, it was reported. The latter must have made a second attempt however, for Wednesday evening a fleet of Dodge cars bound for Green Bay parked in front of the police station.

BUCK WEALTHY DAD TO EARN LIVING

Sons Of Charles A. Whelan Start Chain Of Stores In East

Orange, N. J.—Can a millionaire's son make good working for a living?

"Surest thing, if he takes the job seriously," says young Frank Whelan.

"And if he's got enough nerve," adds his brother Albert.

Nerve? That's the chief stock in trade of the Whelan brothers. They had enough nerve to buck their millionaire father in business competition. They've got a chain of five cigar stores and they're planning more. Each store is in a battle for business against units in the chain of "steep" stores run by their father, Charles A. Whelan, chairman of the board of the United Cigar Stores Company.

"What does father think? You'll have to ask Dad—I guess he knows," said the elder brother, Frank.

"Dad" at his New York office, had nothing to say; the inference is that the junior Whelans are paddling their own canoe.

Still in his twenties, Frank got tired of the law business after qualifying as a lawyer at Fordham University. So he got a job as clerk in a cigar and drug store started by his brother-in-law, John Tobin, Cassidy, in Orange, their home town.

Then Brother Albert came in and they formed the Whelan-Cassidy Company and established four more stores in East Orange, Bloomfield, Rutherford and Rahway.

"Albert and I worked darn hard when we launched the business," said Frank. "We got up at 6:30 in the morning, and still do. We get behind the counters ourselves. And many

BURLAP SACKS CLOTHE MANY OF RUSSIA'S NEEDY

Moscow—Millions of American burlap sacks which were brought to Russia filled with sugar, flour, corn or rice for the starving population are to be made into garments this winter to help relieve the famine in clothing among the poor. The sacks have been accumulating in warehouses since the American Administration shipments began to arrive nearly a year and a half ago.

Experience has shown that Russian women, taught by hard times, can take three sacks and from them soon turn out a serviceable overcoat or a dress. One sack is placed inside the other, a head hole cut, and places allowed for the arms. Double sleeves and pockets are made from the third sack. For wear in cold weather the garment is made thicker by "quilting" with whatever is most handy, articles such as excelsior, rags, pieces of rope, or leather, sheared wool or tea case fibre being used. The sacks will be turned over to old people's homes, orphanages and various other institutions.

Saturday nights we're on the job until 12 or 1.

They've got a system of work. This is it, says Frank:

"Eat a big breakfast and you're ready for a big day's work. That's the system we follow. Pacing up and down behind a counter and keeping a smile, even for the chronic kicker, isn't as easy as it looks. It's easier, though, if you are well stocked to start with."

"The pleasantest thing about it," says Albert, "is that we're showing a few things to those folks who think millionaires' sons are born with silver spoons in their mouths and are not built for work."

HEAD STUFFED BY CATARRH? USE A HEALING CREAM

If your nostrils are clogged, your throat distressed, or your head is stuffed by nasty catarrh, or a cold, apply a little pure, antiseptic, germ destroying cream into your nostrils. # FELT READY TO PAY OUT LAST DOLLAR TO END HIS TROUBLES

Dahlmen Says Troubles Were Driving Him to Desperation — Tanlac Again Proves Merit

"Since taking Tanlac, I feel just as strong, healthy and energetic as I did twenty years ago — and that's saying a great deal for I felt mighty lively in those days," declared Martin Dahlmen, 525 Cass-st., Milwaukee, recently.

"Before getting Tanlac, I suffered from indigestion of the worst kind. My appetite failed me, and I ate so little I began to lose weight, but even that little hurt me terribly. I had awful headaches and pains in my back and was so nervous sometimes it was morning before I could get to sleep."

"I felt like taking my last dollar on anything that would give me back my old-time vigorous health, and that's just what Tanlac did. Besides that, it has built me up twelve pounds. I am eating and sleeping fine, and talk about energy! Why, a big rush of work is like play to me now. The best I can say for Tanlac is not half good enough."

TAFFETA TRIMMING

By MARY BROOKS PICKEN

Taffeta is the favored trimming for spring for both dresses and suits and especially smart for the new jacket suits, which have come to hold a prominent place in the spring wardrobe.

The plaited skirt—the raglan sleeve—the collar—cuffs—the vee pocket, and even the irregular lapwing of the center front are distinctively new for the new season. A suit of novel design, such as this may be developed in a less conservative material than navy twill. For instance, brown cloth with an inconspicuous design of orange and having inserts of orange cloth, would make a smart and attractive suit. In an event the material that will tailor well should be used.

Glassed veils are used for the hat which is an especially good mode for wear with suits. A padded motif of taffeta is applied with bright colored yarn to the side crown.

Women Dress To Be Beautiful And Please Men, Avers Modiest

Styles Of 1923 Same As Those Seen On Egyptian Mummies Of Several Thousand Years Ago

By Associated Press. Paris—Woman's dress will never approach the uniform type of man's dress, declared Madame Jeanne Paquin, founder and chief owner of one of the oldest of the Paris houses, who has just rounded out her thirty-third year as fashion leader and maker of dresses for those who would appear beautiful.

"The styles of today range back to those worn by the Egyptians, such as I once saw on the mummies of the now sunken island of Philae," said Madame Paquin.

CHANGING ART. "If we admit that dressing a beautiful woman is an art, then it follows that this art changes as other arts. One cause for such changes lies in social conditions."

"The season to season changes come from the fact that fashion creators wish to continue to create. I for instance as soon as I have completed a creation wish to pass to something different. I can't help it. It is the creative instinct I obey. There can for this reason never be a set, uniform style for women, so long as women wish to be beautiful and men wish to have them so."

WANT TO BE BEAUTIFUL. "The feminist movement means death to woman's beauty, and for this reason it can never succeed in."

France. Our women wish to appear beautiful, our men approve of this desire, and, within their means, are willing to pay the bill.

"When it was pointed out to Madame Paquin that her own success in business was based on an argument for the feminist movement, she objected energetically."

"Whatever success I have had was due in large part to my husband. My mother insisted that as a girl I should learn a trade, to have a weapon in life. I studied millinery and when I was married at 19, my husband and I decided to take up that line. He knew little about it, but he had a good business head. Without that I should never have succeeded. Women are too careful. They need some body to push them to execution. Boldness is largely responsible for American success."

"The great tragedy of a woman's life," she continued "often is that she is not good looking. I have known of many of these tragedies."

"Behind the smiling exterior of the rich or the highly placed woman, the fear of growing old, of not looking well, has hundreds of times brought tears to me in tears."

"No so long as a woman is a woman she will wish to be beautiful and just so long will there be changes in styles."

What has gained more popularity with the Housewives of Appleton than The Gainaday

Everything the name implies, one more day each week. That day means just so much more time for the busy housewife.

What could you do for yourself or your friends if you could have just one more day each week?

A machine of the latest style, but still the practical, can be had only in the GAIN A DAY OSCILLATOR.

A machine that dashes the clothes thru the water 84 times every minute, in an all copper tub obstructed by nothing. Even the dirt washed from the clothes is taken care of in a separate sediment chamber. And why not? Why should the dirt washed from the cuffs or waist or neck of a shirt be forced thru the back or bosom? Why not the practical way, that washes the dirt out and not back in again?

The Gain-a-Day has an all metal wringer which is so made that it can be used in any position and at the same time that washing is being done. It has two safety devices. One to release the pressure on wringer rolls and the other to stop the entire machine.

Our only request is this, try a Gain-a-Day before buying any other machine and compare it with any machine being sold today for $150.00.

Our price on the Gain-a-Day is $97.50 cash or $11.00 on the easy payment plan of $5.00 down and $10.00 a month.

INDIAN DOCTOR. LEADER. IS DEAD

Oneidas Mourn Death Of Dr. Carlos Montezuma, Noted Character

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Oneida — Word has been received here of the death of Dr. Carlos Montezuma. A number of people here remember him not only as their physician in the great Indian school at Carlisle, Pa., in 1884 and 1895, but he made two visits here, speaking at Epworth hall a few years ago on "Cultureship."

He never believed in reservations for the Indian but always advised them to get as far away from the reservation as possible and fight their own battles.

Dr. Montezuma had a life history of rare romance. Nearly 58 years ago he was born on a ranch in Superstition mountains, about 50 miles east of Phoenix, Ariz., in the region of the Apache Trail highway. When he was about four years old in Oct. 1871, he was captured by a band of Indian raiders headed by Antonio Azuli, war chief of the Pima tribe. The Apache band appears to have been eliminated except for 18 captives. Montezuma was taken by a kindly Pima woman back to her home on Gila river who then sold him to C. Gentile, a traveling photographer, said to have been one of the founders of the Chicago Press club and Chicago Art Institute.

WAS BAPTIZED

Gentile took him to the village of Florence and had him baptized by a priest under the name he bore there after. He then traveled to Phoenix with Gentile, where the photographer left a few photographs, now of historical value.

Gentile went to New York where Montezuma attended the public school until he was 11 years old, when Gentile failed in business. Montezuma then made his home for several years with the Rev. W. H. Stearns at Urbana, Ill., where he entered the University of Illinois, graduating in 1884 with a degree of science. Five years later he secured the diploma of doctor of medicine from Northwestern university.

He was appointed by the commission of Indian affairs as clerk and physician at the Indian school at Fort Stevenson, N. D., and the Sioux gave him the name of Wasagwa. He also served as resident physician at the Indian school at Carlisle, Pa., for two years and then returned to Chicago to enter the regular practice of medicine.

The doctor was a champion of his people and by his continued attacks on the reservation and Indian school system he became a problem with the Indian bureau. But he was backed by eastern philanthropists.

FARM MACHINERY DAY IS PLANNED

Kaukauna — William VanLeishout, proprietor of the local Ford service station and garage, was guest of the Rotary club at its weekly meeting and luncheon in the Coffee Cup dining room Wednesday noon. Mr. VanLeishout told of his plans for "Ford day" which is to be held on Wednesday, March 14. It is expected that by that time the roads will be sufficiently opened to allow farmers to come to the city.

Representatives of the Ford company and from several farm machinery companies will be sent here as speakers. There will be motion pictures on power farming. Refreshments will be served and plans are being made to secure all sorts of souvenirs to be given away. The Rotary club will cooperate to make the annual event a success.

TRAINING SCHOOL NOTES

Kaukauna — On Washington's birth day the members of the training school presented the following program in the auditorium: "America," sung by the entire school; "Lincoln's Gettysburg Address," by Irma Schottler; "Captain, My Captain," by Mary Mures; "America the Beautiful," sung by the school; "Lincoln on the Slaves," by Susan Verkuilen; Washington's "Home," by Viola Arndt; "A Thousand Years," sung by entire school; Washington's "Star Spangled Banner," by entire school. The program was under the supervision of Miss Gertrude Rohm.

Mrs. Carter has been sick for several days but it is reported that she will return soon.

Mrs. Hazel Rungart, nee Rohm, of Ellington spent Monday at the school. Mrs. Rungart is a graduate of the school.

Mr. Duffey, the janitor, is back on the job after being away for several weeks recovering from a fall he received while working in the building.

Last week a shipment of baby chicks was received at the school to be used by the class in agriculture.

They came in very cold weather and were in bad shape when they arrived, but are doing nicely.

The school organized a literary society and elected the following officers: President, Susan Verkuilen; Secretary, Leona Courtes; Secretary, Verdane Wolfgram. A committee was appointed to present a constitution at the next meeting of the society. The meeting will be held on March 8 at which an Irish program will be presented.

The members of the senior class are busy trying to decide what to do for commencement. At present they are picking out a class play.

Many students are out of school on account of sickness.

Last week the classes in agriculture spent a period testing samples of milk. The tests were very successful. The difference in the samples of milk tested was clearly shown.

Miss Gurnee of the county Women's Christian Temperance union spoke to the students of the school on Monday of last week. Her talk was instructive and full of advice the girls can make use of when teaching.

The teachers of the rural schools in this section of the county, met at the training school on Saturday morning to discuss the new manual and to exchange ideas. On account of the severe weather there were but a few present.

The members of Miss Bronson's class in construction are looking up material and suggestions for class work. They are making some projects which should be of value when teaching.

Last week Mr. Hazman visited the Union Grove training school and secured some valuable ideas and suggestions that will be of use here.

The Union Grove school has the distinction of owning a dormitory large enough to take care of all of the girls who attend the school from out of town. The dormitory is well planned and finely furnished. Each student room has running hot and cold water and the building is equipped so the students enjoy all of the comforts of a modern city home. A large reception room on the first floor where students gather every evening for an hour or two takes care of the social requirements of the student body.

The basement of the building is equipped with a spacious, well arranged kitchen and a dining room. The whole building is in charge of a competent matron who also looks after the health of the students. The whole plan seems to work for the unity and harmony that cannot be secured by having students all over the town.

The school building is on the same grounds about a hundred feet from the dormitory, but unfortunately it was destroyed by fire a few weeks ago and the school is now in temporary quarters until the damage is repaired. The school damaged by fire was large and finely arranged. It had all that was needed for carrying on the work in the best manner, but in the rebuilding some slight changes have been made.

Kaukauna — John T. Timmers, new owner of the former Meyer Stoker Co. foundry building on Main ave., has a crew of men engaged in repairing the building. Farm machinery is already arriving and will form part of the stock of the business which Mr. Timmers expects to open next week.

SAY EMERGENCIES DEMAND REMOVAL OF HIGHWAY SNOW

County Board Reaches No Agreement On Spending Money For This Work

The removal of snow from the county highways and the manner in which it should be done is a question upon which nearly every member of the county board has a different opinion. This became evident Wednesday morning when the resolution introduced Tuesday afternoon by Supervisor Culbertson of Greenville came up for adoption.

Three thousand dollars was appropriated at the annual session in November for keeping the roads open and Supervisor Culbertson wanted it specified where it was to be applied. P. H. Ryan, chairman of the county-state road and bridge committee, informed him it was appropriated for keeping the highway open between the county and Ashland and the city of Appleton.

NEED FIRE PROTECTION

Supervisor Tracy deemed it equally important that the highway leading to Riverview sanatorium should be kept open to make it possible for the fire departments of Appleton and Kaukauna to reach that institution in the event of fire. With the road blocked as it was for several days this winter the patients would in case of fire either burn to death or freeze to death before they could be rescued, said Mr. Tracy.

It was generally conceded the highways leading to these institutions could be kept open, but further than this there was a diversity of opinion. It was brought out that Winnebago makes no attempt at keeping the highway between Appleton and Menasha open and that this is done entirely by the owner of a motorbus line. The opinion was expressed that the owners of motorbuses operating between Kaukauna and Appleton should do the same thing, but exception was taken to this by Supervisor Decker of Kimberly who inquired if it was not the manufacturers who were paying the income taxes and he thought they ought to be entitled to some consideration.

The present manner of opening the highways was criticized by some of the members because of the ridges built up at the side which filled up during each storm. One of the members favored expending the $3,000 appropriation for snow fences which he claimed under ordinary conditions were very effective. No definite action was taken in the matter.

Rogers' Exhibit Helps Students Study Forestry

Anyone strolling around in Science hall at Lawrence college who happened to reach the botany laboratory would think he had run onto the relics of the wood which the oaks used to furnish for the stoves in their rooms back in the old days. That would be interesting but the collection in the botany room has more than historical value.

On the top of one of the cases in the room may be seen logs of all sizes which represent 25 of the different kinds of tree found in this vicinity. This is just a beginning of the collection which when completed will include 56 different specimens of trees, all of which grow in the surrounding community. The collection will not include that many species of trees because there may be several varieties of some families.

Besides the cuts of the trees themselves, twigs and buds of the trees will be included. The collection is the result of considerable research on the part of Dr. W. E. Rogers, professor of botany at the college. All the specimens now included were found within a few miles of Appleton. Most of them were taken from trees broken by the storm or trees of a size not common locally. Dr. Rogers was assisted by some of the men in the lotus classes during Thanksgiving vacation. A few varieties are not well known even to the expert and many are unknown to the casual observer.

When the collection is finished, it will not be included in the museum but will be housed in the botany laboratory to be used as a working collection. No adequate means for displaying the collection has been devised at this time.

To supplement the specimens, Dr. Rogers has taken pictures of the larger part of the varieties in this vicinity. Prints of these are included in the note book work of the students. The work in this study is supplemented further by many trips into the wooded sections, where the trees may be studied first-hand.

STUDENTS ASKED FOR CIVIC VIEWS

A thought survey was conducted by James Gheen at Appleton high school on Wednesday morning. The survey was made by the upperclassmen looking ahead a few years to the time when they will be citizens of Appleton, determining the growth and progress of the city. Mr. Gheen used many stories and illustrations which delighted the students as he told of the Greater Appleton movement of which he is educational director during the campaign for members for the chamber of commerce.

A questionnaire was passed to the students asking questions about their future. The answers may bring home some ideas which the students had not given much attention. They are asked what business, profession or trade they intend pursuing, whether they plan to go to college, whether they expect to live and work in Appleton and why, and what suggestions they have for chamber of commerce undertakings.

James Gheen Conducts Thought Survey For Greater Apple- ton Move

Similar surveys will be given at other schools. Mr. Gheen talked at the vocational school at 1 o'clock Wednesday and will talk on Friday afternoon. He will also have a program at Lawrence college next week. The speaker will meet with the Trades and Labor council on Wednesday and be met with the regular Master Builders on Tuesday evening. He will speak before the directors of Appleton Woman's club on Thursday afternoon and has several other speeches planned for the next week.

In his talks, Mr. Gheen explains the purposes of the Greater Appleton movement and how it will help the city. He shows that the city is not just the buildings which one sees but the personalities and efforts of every man, woman and child who live in it. He has the faculty of awakening a keen civic pride in the hearts of his hearers.

TWO MORE STUDENT LIBRARIANS HERE

The two student librarians, Miss Lillian Pulver and Miss Laura Nicholson, who have been doing practice work at the local library as part of the requirements for their library course at the library school at Madison left Tuesday for two other libraries. Each student is expected to have eight weeks of practice work and Miss Pulver returned to Madison to do her remaining four weeks' work at the legislative reference library there. Miss Nicholson went to the library at Fox Lake.

Miss Murza Mann, who has been doing practice work at Superior, and Miss Minnie Chouffet, who has been at the Milwaukee public library, arrived in Appleton Tuesday where they will continue with the work which was done by the first two students. They will spend their remaining four weeks of practice here and in addition to cataloging will have two hours a day of desk work.

Make Settings Realistic For German Lesson

The recitation room at Appleton high school in which one of the German classes dramatized a portion of the German classic "Immensee" looked like a portion of a real cafe on Wednesday morning. The class has been divided into sections and each section dramatizes a scene from the story.

The rathskellar scene where the dancing girl appears was put on by a group on Wednesday morning and no pains were spared to make it realistic. One of the girls was taught by one of the boys to strum an instrument for the occasion and the students even borrowed food from the home economics department to make the setting proper.

1923

Twenty million people mutually own the biggest life insurance company in the world. It is The Metropolitan.

One person in every six in the United States and Canada is a holder of a Metropolitan policy—one of the safest forms of investment known to man.

Metropolitan policyholders live longer than other people because The Metropolitan takes care of its policyholders.

At the same time The Metropolitan is working in cooperation with private, public, civic, state and national organizations to improve the health and living conditions of every man, woman and child in this Country and Canada.

Why Metropolitan Policyholders Live Longer—

Metropolitan has distributed 272,000,000 booklets and pamphlets dealing with health and longer life.

Metropolitan nurses have made more than 16,000,000 free visits to its Industrial (i.e., weekly premium) Policyholders.

Metropolitan extends free periodic medical examinations to holders of Ordinary (i.e., other than industrial) policies.

Metropolitan, working with National, State and Local Health Agencies, is waging a war on Tuberculosis and other preventable diseases.

Life expectancy among Metropolitan Industrial Policyholders has been extended 8 1/2 years since 1911.

Why Metropolitan Policyholders Live Better—

The Metropolitan Agent is a friend to the families he visits and helps them in case of sickness.

17,000 Agents visit the homes of 17,000,000 Industrial Policyholders weekly—telling them of the value of sanitation, fresh air and sunshine.

Among the useful booklets distributed by the Agents are those telling how to buy food, how to care for food, how to cook food, how to provide wholesome, nourishing food for the least money.

This Will Ward Off And Break Up Colds

Just a teaspoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin removes the congestion

THE two ailments that people generally regard as the least important are in reality the cause of the most serious illnesses and of the greatest proportion of deaths. They are constipation and common colds. Many doctors now believe that colds, tonsillitis, a cough of malaria will cause constipation. Instead of constipation being the cause of their disease. The fact remains that you seldom have a cold without congestion. The only way to avoid colds is to keep up your vitality. You usually catch cold in the winter if you are run down. Therefore in cold weather exercise more; eat more fatty foods; drink four to six glasses of water a day; keep the head cool, the feet warm, the bowels open.

You are also less liable to colds if your system is free from the intestinal poisons of constipation, so empty the bowels regularly with a plain vegetable laxative like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

ANY FAMILY MAY TRY IT FREE

"Thousands of parents are asking themselves, 'When can I find a trustworthy laxative that anyone in the family can use when congested?' I urge you to try Syrup Pepsin. I will gladly provide a liberal free trial bottle, sufficient for an adequate test. Write me where to send it. Address Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 415 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois. Do it now!"

At the first sign of a cold, at the first few warning sneezes, take a teaspoonful of Syrup Pepsin and the congestion will be gone in a few hours. Don't wait until the cold has a grip on you. Mr. Henry Dean, Jr., of Rochester, N. Y., cured a stubborn cold in just that way, and Mrs. Alice Corbrey of Haskell, Okla., uses it effectively for all the small ills of her family, such as constipation, biliousness, headaches, dizziness, and to break up fevers and colds.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a scientifically-balanced compound of Egyptian senna with pleasant-tasting aromatics. It is safe to give to infants, and all children like it. Before you again resort to cold remedies containing narcotics try a teaspoonful of Syrup Pepsin. Any druggist will supply you, and the cost is less than a cent a dose.

COUNTRY NOW HAS AUTOMOBILE FOR EVERY 8 PEOPLE

Production Of 2,576,219 Cars
In 1922 Makes Total Of 12,281,445

The annual statistics on motor vehicles compiled by the R. F. Goodrich Co., give a total of 12,281,445 cars and trucks registered in this country in 1922. A gain of 1,250,000 or 16.7 per cent is registered over 1921 which gave a total of 10,824,395.

The year 1922 was the biggest the automotive industry has known. Every state in the union shows an increase in the number of cars operated, as opposed to the preceding year. From the standpoint of production, manufacturers enjoy the biggest year since the inception of the motor car, with 2,576,219 cars and trucks produced. There can be no doubt that the motor vehicle is essential to the social and industrial welfare of the country. Today there is one car for every 8.6 people in the country. In the past two years more cars have been produced than were registered in 1918. This enormous growth is unparalleled in any industry.

NEW YORK LEADS

New York is again the leader with 1,092,293 cars and trucks. This is an increase of 186,253 over 1921, the largest numerical gain made in any state. Ohio continues in second place with 859,000 vehicles, 123,300 more than in the preceding year. California advanced to third place with 842,887, passing Pennsylvania and Illinois, respectively fourth and fifth.

Nevada clings to the cellar position with 12,847. This, however, is a gain of 2,047 or 19 per cent over 1921. Nevada's registration is not as small as it might seem, since it is greater than the combined total of 27 foreign countries.

The District of Columbia registered the largest percentage gain with 37.6 per cent more vehicles than in 1921. California increased its number of cars by 28.1 per cent, a testimonial to its popular climate and progressiveness. The smallest gain recorded was in Maryland where there are only 11 per cent more cars than in 1921.

INCREASE ON FARMS
In the agricultural sections, such as states as Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Missouri and North Dakota, show increases ranging from 7 per cent to 15 per cent, and one of which is greater than the gain made in Massachusetts, namely 4.4 per cent. The gain throughout the southern states is generally greater than in the middle west.

It is interesting to note that six states have nearly 40 per cent of all the motor vehicles registered in the country. New York, Ohio, California, Pennsylvania, Illinois and Michigan accomplish this with a combined total of 4,898,563.

The gain made in these states during 1922, 859,226, is greater than the total registration of Great Britain and France combined. Any one of these states has more cars than the entire Dominion of Canada. Their aggregate total is nearly equal to the 1917 registration of the entire country.

ONE FOR EVERY EIGHT
Today there is one motor vehicle for every 8.6 people in the United States as opposed to one for every 10 in 1921. California has the greatest number of cars per capita with one for every 4.1 inhabitants, virtually one car per family. When this rate is attained throughout the country we will have over 25,000,000 motor vehicles, the world could support such an average there would be over 400,000,000 cars in use or 24 times as many as all those produced in this country since the inception of the motor car. Alabama has the lowest showing in this respect, having only one car for every 26.1 persons. New York the numerical leader has one for every 10.3 people.

The 1922 car and truck production was 2,576,219. Deducting from this the increase in registrations of 1,257,650, the result, 1,318,569 vehicles represents the number of cars discarded last year. For the most part these were produced six or seven years ago and have outlived their period of usefulness. For 1923 manufacturers must build at least 1,000,000 cars for replacement alone.

In the value of its finished products the automotive industry ranks first exceeding even the steel and textile industries. A universal need for rapid transportation has played the leading part in this development. Today there are close to 400,000 miles of improved national and state highways in the country. Practically every section of the United States, no matter how isolated, is now opened to business. Farmers have found motor trucks to be indispensable. One of the greatest adjuncts to railway transportation is the motor truck and indeed transportation by motor vehicle has so simplified the delivery of farm and factory products to the railroads that the latter are continually carrying more and more freight than in 1922, despite equipment handicaps, the railroads broke all previous records in the transportation of many classes of commodities, again being an outstanding example. Passenger cars have freed individual transportation of all laborious limitations uniting with the railways in greatly increasing the efficiency of the American public to travel. The recreational value of the motor car has long since diminished before its greater necessity as a utility.

Family Reunion Complete At Golden Wedding Jubilee

MR. AND MRS. PETER SCHWARZWALD OF HORTONVILLE AND THEIR 15 CHILDREN. (TOP ROW, LEFT TO RIGHT) SIMON, BEN, MLO, ARTHUR, ADOLPH, IGNATIUS, PETER, JR., AND JOHN. (CENTER, LEFT TO RIGHT) FRANK, MRS. WILLIAM McNICHOLAS, LEONARD AND CLARA (BOTTOM ROW, LEFT TO RIGHT) MICHAEL S. SCHWARZWALD, PETER SCHWARZWALD, SR., MRS. PETER SCHWARZWALD, MRS. FRED DOUGLAS AND EMIL SCHWARZWALD.

This picture, at a glance, has nothing extraordinary about it. Yet it represents an accomplishment that most fathers and mothers who have raised large families and are nearing the eighty mark, regard as usually impossible to attain. Fifteen children of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Schwarzwald, leading residents of Hortonville, have been scattered in various cities of the United States for 18 years. Most of them have come home at some time or other during that period for a visit, but the couple hardly hoped to see them all assembled in the home at one time.

REUNION A SURPRISE
However, this very incident crowned the celebration of their golden wedding anniversary at Hortonville on Feb. 13. The children came to Hortonville from points as far away as Idaho, unknown to the venerable couple. A reception was arranged at the opera house for a large number of relatives and friends and no intimation was given Mr. and Mrs. Schwarzwald that their children would be there, except the modest announcement that a surprise was awaiting them. This much was told so as to alleviate the emotion of a surprise.

Gifts and congratulations were showered upon the couple, but their greatest happiness as they rounded out their 50 years of wedded life was to see their 15 children together again and to have loving tributes paid by those who once were their babies. The picture above was taken after the reunion was accomplished, and will serve as perhaps the best memento of the occasion.

THEIR AGES

Mr. Schwarzwald is 75 years old and Mrs. Schwarzwald is 69. The former was born in the village of Britton, Rhine province, Germany, July 18, 1848 and Mrs. Schwarzwald, nee Anna Rohmski, at Oshkosh, July 18, 1855. They were married Feb. 11, 1873 at New London. They resided at New London for about ten years, where Mr. Schwarzwald worked as a blacksmith. Farming then gave place to sawing of the sledge when the family moved to the town of Hortonville. Here they prospered through thrift and hard work, until active management of the farm became rather strenuous for the couple. They gave up farming five years ago and took up their residence at Hortonville village, where they share in the activities of community life.

Only one of the children, Michael S. Schwarzwald, lives at Hortonville where he is associated with Hortonville Auto company. Dr. Peter D. Schwarzwald, Jr., is located at Pocatello, Idaho. Emil is manager for the Wisconsin Telephone company at Fairbault, Minn. Arthur and Adolph are in the wholesale meat and produce business at New Rockford, N. D. John, Leonard and Benjamin, under the firm name of Schwarzwald Brothers, operate a barber shop, confectionery and poolroom at American Falls, Idaho. Ignatius is a steamfitter at Appleton and Simon is a barber in Milwaukee. Frank is a ranchman at American Falls, Idaho. Miss Clara Schwarzwald is employed at New London. Mrs. Fred Douglas lives in Appleton and Mrs. William McNicholas at New London.

FATHER JOHN'S MEDICINE HAS PROVED ITS MERIT BY 67 YEARS OF SUCCESS

Builds Fighting Strength to Ward Off Serious Illness

Scientifically Compounded of Carefully Tested Ingredients

Of Special Value After "Flu" or Other Serious Illness

The flu epidemic which has just swept over the country, while not so severe as the former outbreak, left behind it thousands of people in a weakened and run-down condition.

In just such conditions as these, Father John's Medicine has proven of greatest value.

You need a strengthening food tonic to rebuild your resisting power, and the pure food elements in Father John's Medicine are easily taken up even by a weakened system and made into new strength and flesh.

Building Strength After Any Illness

During the getting well stage of influenza, pneumonia, and other illness, the body, weakened by the disease, is wide open to the attacks of other germs, and this is the period of great danger.

At this time, all of the organs of the body must be kept in their best working order, not only to drive out the poison left in the system by the disease, but in order that the patient shall regain strength as soon as possible to avoid further attacks.

As a means toward good health after any illness, Father John's Medicine has proven its value by more than 67 years of success. Father John's Medicine is a safe medicine for all the family to use—for the children as well as the older people.

Safe for All the Family
Every home should keep Father John's Medicine on hand during this time of danger. It is of particular value in treating colds. Its soothing elements heal the irritated lining of the breathing passage. It helps to drive out impurities and its strengthening elements are of great value.

Father John's Medicine is a very high-grade emulsion of cod liver oil scientifically compounded with other ingredients by specially designed apparatus in such a way as to make its rich food elements easily taken up even by a weakened system. Recent scientific research proved that cod liver oil is 200 times richer in vitamin content than any other known food element. This is the particular reason why people who take Father John's Medicine gain steadily in weight and strength.

The Greatest Body Builder
While the prescription for Father John's Medicine, which was written on June 9, 1855, remains unchanged, the process of compounding that Father John's Medicine is today recognized as "the greatest body builder."

REMOVE SLUSH, SAVS ENGINEER

Everybody Ought To Clean Walks During Mild Weather, Weissgerber Says

Appleton folk who could not keep up with the snowstorms of two weeks ago in cleaning their sidewalks found that the snow soon hardened into ice. Now, with the return of the sun and springlike zephyrs, these people have ample opportunity to clean the walks.

As a result of the thaw, sidewalks now serve as a catch-all for melting snow, and miniature lakes begin to form where the walks are lower than the lawn and terrace. More than one person has complained that while returning home at night he stepped upon a sidewalk which appeared to be solid only to find his feet submerged in two or three inches of water. Clean the walks, now that they are slushy, is the advice of O. F. Weissgerber, head of the street department.

The department is also at work cleaning out the catchbasins of sewers which for several weeks have been more or less lost under the snow. Crews have been engaged in thawing out frozen catchbasins with the steam boiler in order that they will take the water freely. Mr. Weissgerber advises against tampering with the catchbasins, as has already been done.

An English authority says the world's greatest department stores are to be found in Chicago, Philadelphia and Toronto.

New Victor Records FOR MARCH Out To-Day

BE SURE TO HEAR THESE NUMBERS

10-in. List price $1.25

68122 Jesus, My Lord, My God, My All

This hymn, which is universally known and loved by Christian people, has been recorded at the special request of Archbishop Curley, of Baltimore, a lifelong friend of the artist, who heard him sing it when he confirmed his children in the little church at Noroton, Connecticut. It is a simple and heartfelt expression of faith, a plea, in humility, for greater power of adoration. It is sung in high, sweet, sonorous tenor tones, against a smooth cord accompaniment in the orchestra, divided between soft strings and equally soft brass and woodwinds. The harmony follows the voice-melody, the voice, however, giving it firmness and luminousness of outline. Something, indeed, of the spirit of some sunlit confirmation-morning seems to have crept into the record. It is free of embellishments, the voice entering quietly and departing without display when its utterances are done. In its simple and all-sufficient purity, it is one of the finest records the artist ever has made.

19002 La Paloma—Fox Trot

O Sole Mio—Waltz International Novelty Orch.

To rag "La Paloma" is practically ragging ragtime; for the loveliest of all national songs is the classical example of the Habanera-rhythm on which the fox trot and its preceding dances mostly were based. The number is called a tango fox trot because it can be used for either of these two dances in the forms now current in the ballroom. It reveals new, subtle and intricate scorings, with an introduction in soft woodwinds with castanets, and with new combinations of saxophone, brasses and strings for the familiar melody. (Note the beautiful brief duet for violin and piano "O Sole Mio" by A. di Capua, arr. N. Shilkret) is based on the familiar Neapolitan song, A. Cibelli taking the vocal refrain. It makes a beautiful modern waltz, which is scored with a subtlety of orchestral sense not too common in dance music. The strings are skillfully used in combination with both brass and woodwind. Clumes are used with fine effect, especially after a change of key.

NO MORE CASES OF TYPHOID REPORTED

No further cases of typhoid fever have been reported to the health department since the three that were detected last week, according to Dr. W. C. Felton, health commissioner. In answer to the criticism made of the health officer in a communication to the Post-Crescent a few night ago, Dr. Felton explained that when he said the diseases were not serious, he was speaking of the situation as a whole. There is no typhoid epidemic in the city and two of the existing cases are convalescent, hence he repeated, there is no cause for alarm.

DOG POISONER IN WEST END GETS 2 MORE FAMILY PETS

Police Seeking Death Fiend Who Spreads Strychnine For Canines

Appleton's west end dog poisoner appears to have gotten restless for more canine victims, because two pets of children have been added to his death list by the strychnine route this week.

One of these dogs is a Japanese poodle owned by George Heiser, 365 Cherry-st. It appears to have been poisoned Wednesday with a heavy dose of the death poison, because it died shortly after exhibiting the symptoms.

The other is a fox terrier owned by Norbert Roemer, 360 Cherry-st. It was poisoned Monday and a veterinarian's treatment prolonged its life until Thursday. A chemical analysis proved the assumption that strychnine had been used.

It is reported that at least one other dog in that locality also met its death in the same manner.

The police were notified of the operations of the dog hater and are working on the case.

This killing of pet dogs is becoming a matter of more and more concern in the west end of the city. At least once a year a poisoning crusade occurs which highly valuable dogs and especially pet are taken.

Poisoned meat was used in the last of these crimes reported to the police, but none was found on the above premises in these latest cases. It is not known just how the animals were made to take the drug.

SHERIFF SEEKING MAN WHO ATTACKED SCHOOL TEACHER

Stranger Flees After Visiting Little Chute Classroom

Sheriff Otto Zuehlke and his deputies are working on clues which they hope will lead to the arrest of the man who is alleged to have assaulted Miss Loreta Ward, teacher of the first and second grade of St. John Catholic school at Little Chute shortly before 10 o'clock Thursday morning. The man is alleged to have escaped in an automobile after running from Forester hall which is used as a classroom.

The sheriff has very little information on the alleged attack. R. H. McCarty, chief of police at Kaukauna, is in charge of the investigation.

According to the meagre information obtainable here, the man, presumably a stranger, called at the classroom. The teacher went to the door and the children heard the man speak in a loud voice and Miss Ward is said to have fainted. Whether the man actually struck the teacher has not been learned by the sheriff.

When the teacher averted the children scrambled out through the windows and a story that the teacher had been kidnapped soon spread. The young woman, it is said, recovered but was unable to tell a coherent story for several hours. A description of the man has been given by Miss Ward, it is said.

SEEK IMPROVED METHOD OF STARTING AIRPLANES

By Associated Press
London—The recent successful launching of air gliders at Iford Hill has induced those interested in commercial aviation to consider means whereby passenger airplanes may be launched by mechanical means.

It is believed this would conserve half the engine horsepower, enable planes to carry more passengers, reduce the cost of operating, do away with subsidies, and reduce fares. At present the full horse power of the engines has to be developed in getting off the ground.

'FIRST LADY' IS SCARED BY POSITION

Wife Of New Governor Of California Doesn't Relish Her New Job

BY GENE COIN
Special to Post-Crescent
Sacramento, Calif.—California's "best housewife" has become California's "first lady."

"And now my troubles begin," sighs Mrs. Fred W. Richardson, whose husband was swept into the governorship at the last election.

It is traditional that, under such circumstances, the wife hurries jubilantly and dreams of social position.

Not so with Mrs. Richardson. Noted as a housekeeper, a cook, a mother, a wife, she opines that "the governor's mansion will never seem like home."

"Yes, my troubles are beginning now," she said as she prepared to move into the state mansion.

"Now I'll have to have cooks and maids, and I've been doing my own housework all my life."

"DEAR ME COOKS!"

"Dear me! And I've always been much trouble. They never could tell that cooks and servants are never the way you want them. They never do things the way you'd do them."

It has long been her philosophy that every woman should be so overlord of her home.

"I've always thought woman's clubs and that sort of thing were waste of time. Women can find plenty to use up their time around the house if they want to," she holds.

The first duty of a governor's wife, as of every other wife, she believes, is to maintain her home ties against the encroachment of outside attraction. She believes that the "first lady" should always be the "best housewife."

"If a woman is really happy in her home she won't have much time for social affairs," she avers.

"Now, I suppose I'll have to entertain. And maybe I'll find time now to pay a few calls. I haven't called to more than seven homes in 10 years. If a governor's wife has much leisure as she's supposed to, I think charity questions should take up considerable of her time."

"And another thing; the matter of town morals needs attention. I intend to clean up this town and help clean up others. They aren't fit to bring up children in. Governor's wives could be a powerful influence for good, I believe."

The simple philosophy of the best housekeeper, who became "first lady" was interrupted when, for the first time, she gave attention to her hat.

"I'm afraid I'll have to buy a new hat now," she concluded. "My husband learned a lot about the government economy he expects to practice right in the home. Good home budgets would encourage good state budgets."

his death Yehudah had all but completed the compilation of a Hebrew dictionary that will stand as a final monument to the memory of one who gave his entire life to instill new life into the Hebrew people of Palestine.

REFORMERS TRY TO TAKE ANOTHER JOY OUT OF LIFE

But New York Girls Show Fight When Reformers Try To Ban Flirting

(Special to Post-Crescent)
New York—Shall making goo-goo eyes become a felony?

Shall the delicate silken parasol, traditional instrument of flirtation, be banned as a dangerous weapon?

Shall the flirt, both male and female, either be reformed or driven from our midst?

"Yes!" shouts James Madison who has initiated a nation-wide Anti-Flirt Crusade. He and his sympathizers at a recent meeting in a hotel here laid plans to clamp down a flirting lid from coast to coast.

But opposition has developed.

"We're going to flirt," declares an adventurous band of young people, especially those in great cities to whom flirting offers the only means of making acquaintance among the opposite sex.

So the war is on. And here are ultimatum from both sides:

BY JAMES MADISON
Leader and Founder, Anti-Flirt Crusade

The aim of the Anti-Flirt Crusade is to show through the medium of propaganda and publicity the evil effect flirtation has on modern society. We plan to establish an organization that will have branches in every city, an organization whose far-reaching influence will make all city streets safe for our daughters.

The sooner the flirt is quashed, the sooner we shall restore to our young generation the better and sweeter things in life.

In present wave of flirtation is caused by giving our boys and girls too much leeway. We must educate them and their parents to the seriousness of the situation.

We shall collect no fees or dues although individual subscriptions already have been donated and are in actual use today.

But what we do need and ask is the full moral support of the whole American public.

BY EVELYN BOYD
New York Business Girl

Many of the nicest fellows I know I met through flirting.

Times have changed since cities were small and social events were purely home affairs where a girl had plenty of chances to meet nice boys.

In New York today a single house to a family is possible only for the rich. And apartment house landlords object to parties which annoy other tenants.

So girls and young men must seek their amusement away from home—and hence the modern "value of flirting."

There's another factor in it, too. Flirting holds less danger for the modern girl because she's better able to take care of herself. Her active participation in business and other phases of life outside the home have brought that about.

Flirting, thought frowned on for centuries, has persisted—and it will persist despite the present movement against it.

PREACHER MURDER MYSTERY IS PUT AWAY AS UNSOLVED

Failure Of Grand Jury To Return Indictment May End Investigation

(Special to Post-Crescent)
New Brunswick, N. J.—The Hall-Mills murder case has gone into the dusty pigeonhole of crime's unsolved mysteries.

The Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and his choir singer, Mrs. Eleanor Mills, murdered were nearly three months ago, have joined the hall of fame along with such famous figures as Dorothy Arnold, Joseph Elwell and William Desmond Taylor.

Failure of the grand jury to indict anybody in the double murder suggests to criminologists the question: Is the Hall-Mills case permanently pigeonholed?

Two other famous cases remain unsolved mysteries—

Dorothy Arnold disappeared Dec. 12, 1910. She was never seen again after coming out of a Fifth Avenue book store in New York that day.

Secret search went on until Jan. 25, 1911, when the case was reported to the police. Since then a fortune has been spent running down thousands of clues and it is still unknown whether she was murdered, kidnapped or committed suicide.

For two and a half years every effort has failed to solve the mystery of the murder of Joseph Bowne Elwell, bridge whist expert and turfman.

Elwell was found in his New York apartment in the early morning of June 12, 1909, dying of a bullet wound in the forehead. The suicide theory was discarded but his assassin has never been found.

Most recent of other famous unsolved mysteries, prior to the killing of the Rev. Hall and Mrs. Mills last Sept. 14, was the murder of William Desmond Taylor, motion picture director, in his Los Angeles home Feb. 2 of this year.

Harwood Speaks
Frank J. Harwood delivered the annual address at the Father and Son banquet at Antico Tuesday evening. The banquet was held in the Congregational church.

NOTED HEBREW SCHOLAR DIES IN PALESTINE

By Associated Press
Jerusalem—Palestine Jewry has met with a great loss in the recent death of Eliezer Ben Yehudah, the father of the revival of the Hebrew language.

Educated in Paris Yehudah came to Palestine 41 years ago at the age of 23. With the frailest of constitution and without friends or money, but with an iron will and a steadfast purpose, he set himself to arouse the depressed and discouraged Jews of Palestine to self-consciousness. He believed that through a revival of the tongue of the great Hebrew prophets his oppressed brethren would awaken to a new life, and by every means within his power he sought to arouse them.

How well he succeeded, may be judged by the fact that today tens of thousands of Jews in Palestine are speaking and reading pure Hebrew; it is the language of instruction in all of the excellent Jewish schools of the country, and it is recognized by the government of the land as one of the three official languages. list of delinquent personal property taxes immediately upon its receipt in the month of March to the respective town boards of supervisors so that the boards have this information on file at the time of the annual town meeting.

It was claimed that considerable personal property escaped taxation as the result of the present practice of treasurers turning in their delinquent personal property taxes at the time of settlement with the county treasurer.

As a result of the adoption of a resolution introduced by Supervisor Culbertson, Chairman D. J. Ryan appointed a committee consisting of Mr. Culbertson, George F. Fiedler and James Farrell to draw up a suitable memorial to be presented to the state legislature asking for the control of all public amusement places.

The board expects to complete its work Friday and adjourn until 9:30 Friday morning.

CAR AND GARAGE CONSUMED IN FIRE

In spite of the efforts of firemen to save them, the Chevrolet automobile and garage of Joseph Heinzl on Brick-yard near Terrace Gardens were destroyed by fire between 9 and 10 o'clock Wednesday evening. The fire occurred at Mr. Heinzl's summer cottage out side the city limits. Firemen were called to the scene in the hope of extinguishing the fire by means of chemicals, but it had already received too big a start.

ADVERTISE BEES BY EXHIBITING AT COUNTY FAIRS

Fox River Valley Apiarists Hear Talks On Beekeeping At Meeting Here

By W. F. WINSEY
Improved methods of marketing honey, eradication of disease from the few infected bee yards of the state and plans to increase the yield of honey, were among the subjects discussed in the council chamber of the city hall on Wednesday by L. P. Whitehead, extension apiculturist of the University of Wisconsin, and C. D. Adams, chief apiary inspector, state department of agriculture, before a meeting of the Fox River Valley Beekeepers' Association of which Edward Hassinger, Jr., Greenville, is secretary.

In a preliminary talk, Mr. Whitehead recommended, as an effective form of advertising honey, exhibits of bee colonies and honey at county fairs, encouraged and invited by liberal premiums for the best displays, the premiums to be offered by the fairs. The speaker claimed that bees at a fair furnish a strong attraction and are able to advertise themselves and their product if given the opportunity recommended. The bee industry is of sufficient importance in this state to receive the recognition of fairs. A number of county fairs have already taken the initiative by giving bees and their product a prominent place among the exhibits.

SHORT PRODUCTION SEASON

In speaking of the production of honey, Mr. Whitehead asserted in substance that a colony of bees may, through lack of numbers and preparation, fail to produce the average amount of honey during a season. The flow of honey in this vicinity reaches its crest in the middle of June and lasts about five weeks. The beekeeper must spend the balance of the year in the preparation of his colonies to collect the greatest possible amount of honey during this limited productive period. The failure of a colony to meet the demands of the beekeeper is often due to the age and debility of the queen. To restore the vigor of an impoverished colony, Mr. Whitehead recommends requeening the colony and every colony near the close of the greatest honey flow of the season.

If this is done, the young queen will immediately proceed to strengthen her adopted colony with 15,000 young, vigorous bees during July and August, rest through the fall and winter and resume these productive operations in the following April, continue them through that month and May to the extent that the colony may be populated with 100,000 young, vigorous bees when the flow of honey begins.

ERADICATE DISEASE

In one of his talks, Mr. Adams gave the history of what the state has done through apiaary inspectors in the bee yards of the various counties to eradicate a germ disease, known as the American foul brood, which attacks and destroys the larva of the colonies infected, decreases the output of honey and spreads to other colonies. This disease in no manner affects the quality of the honey produced but limits the amount. It is the intention of the state beekeepers' association to stamp out the disease entirely.

In another talk, Mr. Adams gave the history of the attempts of the state beekeepers' association to provide its members with improved methods for marketing honey. The first step taken in this line was the grading of honey and the pricing of it according to grade. This increased the sales of honey as it gave the consumer confidence in what he bought. The next step was to pool the entire crop of honey for the season and to market it by cooperative methods. The latter plan was not a success. The third and present plan is to standardize honey, to pack it in attractive, lithographed containers of five and ten pound capacities, to guarantee the weight and quality and to retail the small package at $1.15 and the large one at $2.00.

MARK CONTAINERS

On a white background and on the back of the pail appears these words: "This honey is guaranteed to be pure, ripe and clean. If not satisfactory, write the secretary of this organization."

On the front of the pail in large red letters on a white background appear these words: "Pure Wisconsin Honey, and below, Grade No. 1. Net weight — pounds. Color, White."

Board Smokes Cigars, Gift Of Newlywed

Members of the county board were pleasantly surprised during the opening session Tuesday afternoon when a box of cigars was passed around with the explanation that they were the gift of Supervisor Anton Jansen, president of Little Chute. While the county fathers were deliberating over this sudden burst of generosity, they were reminded that Mr. Jansen is the most recent novice among the newlyweds. He and his bride of two months took out the first marriage license of the year.

RUSSIA WON'T BE ALLY IN ANY WAR

Indianapolis—Russia will not join in a war against France or any other country unless driven to it, declares James P. Goodrich, former governor of Indiana.

And Goodrich knows Russia. He has made a careful study of conditions in the soviet republic as a trustee and member of the executive committee of the American Relief Administration there.

"Russia naturally is somewhat friendly to Germany," Goodrich says, "because Germany is the only first-class power with which the soviet government has made a treaty."

HATED OF FRANCE

A bitter hatred toward France exists throughout Russia, Goodrich added.

"I found this hatred to exist, not only in official classes but down to the very peasants," he said. "As a result of this feeling it would be a natural tendency to do everything possible to embarrass France."

"Despite these facts, I believe the only kind of war in which the Russian people would engage would be a war of defense and not one of aggression."

TIRED OF WAR

"Russia got out of the world war because the people were tired of war. They are still tired of war."

"Not only is Russia tired of war but it is not in a position industrially to conduct a war or to maintain an army on the field."

"I believe these things overbalanced any tendency to war that would result from the hatred of Russia toward France."

Mrs. William Nemachek returned Tuesday from Ticonderoga where she attended the funeral of a relative, Nial Cannon, who died suddenly. Mr. Cannon was formerly a resident of Dale and is well known here.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes
—Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, yellow look,
dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take
Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep them fit. 15c and 30c.

SPIED TODAY

HASTE MAKES WASTE
Wednesday morning at about 9 o'clock at the corner of South Division and Maple-st. a car, trying to turn the corner too fast, ran into the telephone pole. In trying to back up it almost tipped over. The driver had to call for help from the neighbors, but they could not do much until another car happened along and gave a lift. The car was not damaged to a great extent.

THEY WANTED ENOUGH
On Meade-st about 4:30 Monday afternoon, I spied two boys run up on a porch and quickly run down again. They did this at three houses until their pockets bulged. When I got home I found out that they were taking boxes of bran that were left at the homes for advertising purposes.

WARM IN HORTONVILLE
Hortonville—Wednesday morning, as the snow was falling, I heard a meadow lark singing just as happily as if the June sun was shining. The same lark has been heard singing around here since Sunday, Feb. 25.

BUS HITS TOURING CAR
Wednesday afternoon at 4:10 I saw an accident at the corner of North and Union streets in which the Kaukauna bus, going to Kaukauna, hit a Paige touring car licence number 1741, breaking off both back wheels and bending the back fenders on the Paige. Nobody was injured and the bus was not damaged.

LACK OF BREEDING
Monday night in front of Conway Cafe, I saw four singing gun-chewing Lawrence crows, walking four abreast, discussing their gentlemen friends and the latest styles, and usurping the entire width of the walk.

HE NEEDS A SPANKING
Wednesday afternoon about 4 o'clock I saw a boy stooping down behind some baskets containing apples in front of Fish's grocery. He lifted the cover, took some apples, put them in his pocket and walked away as though nothing had happened. But when I called to him he ran for dear life.

KINDRED OF THE DUST PROVES FILM SUCCESS
Peter B. Kyne, the famous author of many short stories and novels which have appeared in the Saturday Evening Post and other well-known periodicals, wrote "Kindred of the Dust," an Associated First National attraction, produced by Raoul A. Walsh, which is appearing at the Elite theatre.

ANOTHER VERSION
Two women were injured when a Kaukauna bound bus struck the rear of an automobile at the corner of North and Union-sts Wednesday afternoon. The rear end of the automobile was practically demolished, and when I saw the two women occupants, I observed that one of them had a bloody nose and the other had a bruised eye.

Last Traces Of Former Armory Now Removed

The old armory on east College-ave originally built as a skating rink in 1883, and used as a garage for the last few years, has been dismantled by Gregg Schindler. All that remains to mark where it stood is a quantity of debris that will be removed as soon as weather conditions permit.

The new $125,000 Masonic temple which is to be built this spring is to occupy the site of both the old armory and the former Park hotel which was dismantled several years ago and which was one of the oldest landmarks of the city.

The plans for the new building are being prepared by Lenout & Guthrie of Milwaukee and will be ready for contractors about the middle of March. It is the intention to have the building inclosed by fall.

BRITISH BANKS REPORT OVERFLOW OF SILVER

London—London banks are overflowing with silver, so much so that they are embarrassed for facilities to handle the huge amounts which have been deposited with them. It is estimated that there is twice as much silver in circulation in England as is necessary, that one half of the 60,000 pounds worth of coined silver could be dispensed with.

It was needed during the war, but today the banks are at their wits end as to what to do with it. The vaults of many banks are filled, and it has been whispered that the dungeons of the Tower of London have been requisitioned to store the surplus metal.

DUCKS IN RIVER VAMP HUNTERS WHO CAN'T ACT

The trigger fingers of many hunters in Menasha are aching to work when these men see hardy whistler ducks swim the river near Wisconsin-ave and come almost to the shore. The ducks have been infesting the river for sometime since the temperature in the north has closed over most of the waters there and forged the ducks south.

These birds feed on fish and at this time of the year their flesh is not a table delicacy. It is illegal to bag them.

ROTARY IN CLOSE RACE WITH KINGSTON

A great deal of interest is being taken by members in the attendance contest between the Rotary club of Appleton and that of Kingston, N. Y., which has been in progress for the last three months. The local club had an attendance of 95 per cent in December, while that of Kingston was 94 per cent. Kingston led in January with an attendance of 99 per cent, while that of Appleton was 91. It is expected the percentage for February attendance will be very close.

SKELTON 5,000 YEARS OLD FOUND IN SWEDEN

Stockholm — The well preserved skeleton of a man who lived in the stone age, 5,000 years ago, has just been found on the west coast of Sweden by a commission of archaeologists which has been combing the countryside for ancient relics to be placed on exhibition at the exposition in Gothenburg this summer.

The Swedish experts, fifteen in number, have been at work for about seven years, and have succeeded in collecting 20,000 relics of antiquity. The result of their labor has been an accumulation of proofs that the North Sea coast of Sweden was inhabited as early as 3,000 B. C.

The stone age skeleton, which is now being mounted in Gothenburg, was found during excavations at Kungshäcka, a few miles south of this city. The ancient site of Kungshäcka, has been chosen by some critics as the probable seat of Beowulf, the hero of the oldest epic poem in English literature; but Beowulf was a new-comer compared with the stone age man, who lived about 4,000 years before him.

The relics now brought to light in flint flint tools and weapons, ornaments, etc. In one of the graves about 2,000 years old, were found the remains of a woman and her equipment, consisting of an amber necklace, weaver's reeds and distaff.

An English school is teaching its pupils the songs of wild birds, by means of gramophone records.

FRONT-ST EXTENSION TO HAVE NEW HOMES

The extension of Front-st from Locust-st to Pierce-ave the coming summer will result, it is understood, in the building of several handsome new homes on a plot of vacant land which years ago was used for park purposes.

The land belongs to D. H. Pierce, who offered the strip necessary for the extension of the street to the city without solicitation. The extension of the thoroughfare will open up half a dozen desirable residence lots some of which have already been sold. Three new residences facing on Second-st were built in this plot last summer.

"Duff?" he asked stiffly, "how, my son?"

"The Black Rustler rides tonight—into a trap, set and prepared by that little rich-fool, Lolo Sanchez—I met her but now by the Little Antelope—who thought it was I who would spring it. For her sake—you know—for her sweet sake—well, it is I who shall spring the trap, padre, if I can beat him, and no one will be the wiser. You know I have the Rustler's fame about me anyway... Can you give me comfort, father dear?"

The old priest lifted his face and never in his long, hard life had it been so glorified, so furrowed with its tears.

"Greater love hath no man than this, that he giveth his life for his friend," he said tremulously. "Come." And for the first time Velantrie, "sometime of the Border," stepped to the little side door of the mission, bowed his bare black head and entered. Father Hillaire lighted a taper on the altar and closed the doors. Velantrie knelt with his face to ward the light.

CHAPTER XXII

Home to the Fields of Paradise
The net was drawing in—drawing in. Not a man of that far-flung line knew it so well as the Black Rustler himself who rode with muffled hoofs inside the net, sweeping this way and that, listening, feeling for the unseen foe. His brain, always keen and calculating, counted the ranches and the probable men from each, the distance they would be from their various starting places by now. To the northwest he went—but he knew there were there. To the north he tried to go—but he felt them coming there—from Paradise—the riders on the feet Red Blood.

He swung in a wide arc toward the Blind Trail Hills, but left them eastward and pushed north again—for there was no ranch between Paradise and the cliffs. It was a far cry that way, however, and he would likely meet the men from the two outfits that lay further north yet—for this vast net was perfect.

He had known it would be. What he had not known was this—that it had been warned and almost wholly set to its pattern hours before the fires were lighted. Now, in some flash of that illuminating seventh sense that had saved his skin so many times before, he knew that the dies were cast—that he had played his last great game and failed. So he laid the rein on his horse's neck—that same and splendid runner on whom he had always said he would "stake a lot," and rode for the one thing dearer to him than life or anything on earth—the untarnished love of his wife.

Rode from east to west inside the net, directly across the path of the riders from the north.

The cottonwoods in the patio cast long black shadows on the ranch-house wall. Paradise was still as death.

Belle in her deep chamber did not hear the sound of muffled feet that struck the flags by the spring. They were, also, slow feet and stumbling for poor lightning had run as he had never run before—had covered killing miles at a killing pace, had shown that "something by-ordinary" in him of which his master had sometimes spoken. Now he stumbled in beside the spring and stopped with his head hanging and the breath whistling in his sides.

The man in his saddle flung off his back and entered with a soundless step the darkened house. On the sill he stopped and cast one proud high look at the patio, sharp in its light and shadow, at the sweeping fields below, at the corrals and all the buildings lying so peacefully in the silent night.

"Th' best in its line," he muttered under his breath, "th' best in its line—always."

A moment later Belle Hannon stirred in her sleep and said softly to "John."

The man who stood beside the bed reached down and touched her gently.

"Belle—sweetheart," he said, "I'm here."

Instantly she was awake, was up and clinging to him, her arms about his neck, her lips against his face. Little fluttering laughter was in her broken words, she quivered with the sudden ecstasy of his living presence.

"Home again!" she cried softly. "Oh, John! My man!"

John Hannon sat down on the bed's edge and drew her close upon his heart, smothering the soft hair from her temples. He reached and drew a curtain, letting in a flood of the moonlight that he might the better see her face.

"Belle darling," he said, "do you love me?"

The woman laughed.

"Love you? I think I adore you, John—the best husband, the noblest man I ever knew. Yes," she added soberly, "may God forgive me, I think it's more than love."

"Have I made you happy, little woman?" Always?

"Always, my beloved. But why this serious talk?—and just at your return when we are always so foolishly happy?"

"I have a desire to know," he said.

"Then know—that never a man in this world but you could have made heaven on earth for a blind woman—would have been the heart and soul of honor in all his dealings with her. Would have been so patient, so tender, so kind and withal so true. Oh, John, you are—next to God to me."

John Hannon loosed one arm from about her, drawing her nearer with the other, and his fingers slipped softly to the gun hanging at his hip.

"Now let me confess," he said lightly, "come in with it, responses in this here litany we're saying. You have been an 'at' the only star in my sky, th' light of my universe. I love you better than anything I possess—lands, money, horses or our one child. Better than all. Are you happy?"

"Happy?" murmured Belle. "Ah! Happy!"

The man bent his head above her, put his lips to hers in one long kiss. The hand came up from the holster, the blue gun with it. Both were steady as a rock. The wonderful courage that had marked the Black Rustler on the Border met its greatest test and did not flinch.

Slowly, carefully, the muzzle rose, picking its way more surely than ever before. There must be no bungle here, no slightest slip. Inch by inch it crept along Belle Hannon's throat, the fair cheek—reached her white temple and halted, just opposite the spot where the soft curls lay. The dark eyes of the man burned on her face in one long yearning look.

And then Val Hannon, dull in her trance of anguish, heard a shot that boomed in the silent house, most monotonously—another that followed on its heels. She passed a hand across her eyes, shook herself as if to clear the shadows from her brain.

Then she seemed to come out of her own abandonment of suffering with a jerk, to gather her own keen wits. Almost instantly she was, John Hannon's daughter, a strong, alert, ready though she trembled with foreboding as she passed through the shadowed house toward her mother's room. In the living-room she met Fanita, half-laid and frightened, coming from the servants' quarters.

At the threshold of that closed room Val stopped, sick to her soul with fear. Then she raised a resolute hand and struck the panels. "Mother!" she called clearly. "Deile dear!"

"There was no sound and again she called. Still that awful silence. Val Hannon, as her father would have done, opened the door and entered.

In the bright square of moonlight from the window John Hannon lay with his wife upon his breast, still with majestic peace—and his gun lay smoking in his loosened hand, while on his face there stood out, stark in the moon-glow, a broad black velvet mask.

Val stood in the doorway looking down and the heart in her breast was stopped. When it labored on again she relaxed her hold on the lintel and slid weakly down along the wall. The room and its ghastly wick was whirling.

She saw her mother's smiling face—the temple beneath the curls. She saw her father's uncovered iron-ax head, which there was not mistaking. She saw the revolver and the mask.

And then Val Hannon knew. The Black Rustler. Ah! The Black Rustler! The net—and the signals!

How long she sat crouched by the doorway she did not know. She heard Fanita crying and the feet of women running, knew that dark terror-stricken faces filled the door behind her. And she knew that those two in the square of moonlight were dead—gone together into that vast unknown which waits the human soul.

Gone—her dad whose pride and power in the rangeland were unbowed—her mother with her high spirit and her splendid faith. Gone—the love, and the pride, and the power. But—gone together, these two who had loved so grandly, and who must still love!

She heard the voices of the women talking in high hysteria—a horse's hoofs sharp on the stones outside—and Fanita speaking in her ear.

"Oh, senitona," it was begging, "open the door to the patio! There is one who rides with news and who will not be denied! Come, Senitona Val!"

Dully the girl drew herself up along the doorpost, closed the door upon the room. News? What mattered news? But from force of habit she, who had always answered all callers to Paradise in the master's absence, went stupidly out with Fanita's arms about her to guide her steps.

Beauties Do Not Agree On Use Of Rouge

BY MARIAN HALE
To rouge or not to rouge! That's the question.

"Rouge? Why, certainly," thus Jane Sheal.

"Certainly NOT," says Alyce McCormick.

Suppose we let the fair disputants speak for themselves. For fair they are—both of them. And they speak with authority.

THEIR CITIES' PRETTIEST

Miss Sheal was picked by Cleveland and Miss McCormick by Omaha to represent their respective cities at the Millinery Association of America's show at New York's Hotel Astor. Each was the prettiest young woman available.

The speaker for the affirmative takes the floor first.

"The clever, artistic woman," Miss Sheal insists, "usually can improve a little on nature. All the famous beauties have done so."

FOR THE AFFIRMATIVE

"Women need color. City life and modern conditions don't give it. Science must."

"No woman should try to make up her face without knowing her type and how to accentuate it. If she possesses this knowledge a touch of rouge, the right shade of powder and skill with the lipstick will do wonders for her, even if she isn't naturally a beauty. They do a great deal for real beauty, too. Don't let anybody tell you they don't."

ON THE OTHER HAND

"That's that! Now for the negative. 'To use rouge properly and to become an artist with the lipstick,' says Miss McCormick, 'takes so much time that, if you have it to spend, you'd better devote it to out-door sports, exercise and sleep—and get your color naturally.'"

"To be beautiful you must first be happy—love life, work hard, sleep well and use your brain."

"Real beauty lasts. The kind you put on with a brush doesn't."

DECIDE FOR YOURSELF

"For every woman who can make up properly there are a hundred who can't. If I attempted it, I'd join the great majority. So I prefer to wear my face as it is."

There, the debate's closed. Decide for yourself who won it.

Miss Sheal is a student at the Cleveland School of Art.

Miss McCormick is relief secretary to her father, head of the Omaha battalion of the Volunteers of America.

Household Suggestions

USE-A FORK
If you will prick the skins of apples with a fork before putting them in to bake, they will not burst and will retain their shape.

FOR PATENT LEATHER
Clean your patent leather shoes with milk or a little sweet oil. If the shoes have been wet and the leather has hardened, soften them with vaseline.

GOOD FOR SERGE
If your blue serge suit has become shiny, sponge it with hot vinegar and press it on the wrong side, using a fairly hot iron.

BRIGHTENING UP BRASS
Your brass candlesticks will appreciate an occasional rubbing with vinegar and salt. It will brighten antique brass without giving the appearance of having been polished.

CHICKEN AND CELERY
When preparing your fowl for a chicken salad, cut the meat with a knife instead of chopping it with a chopping knife. Do the same with celery.

ADD A LITTLE SUGAR
When preparing roast beef, add a little sugar to the water you use for basting, and it will give it a rich brown color as well as a decided flavor.

FRESHENS THEM UP
If your carpet or rugs have become faded and dingy a little ammonia will sometimes bring out the pattern again and fresh them amazingly.

WIDE COLLARS
Collars are attaining such width that one fears for their ultimate destiny. Many of them reach to the waistline already. Finely plaited or ruffled georgette is the favorite material for them.

Physicians say that women not only sleep more lightly than men, but require less sleep, as to the number of hours daily.

EARLY BLOOMING MILLINERY PROMISES FLOWERS ON HATS

The coming season will see femininity wearing hats like these. At the upper left is shown an effective use of the bandana drape. Upper right illustrates a becoming flower arrangement. At the center is a smart piece of millinery with the popular bow trimming. At the lower left is a silk hat with leather applique designs.

BY MARIAN HALE

The new spring hats, blossoming profusely in midwinter, are characterized by their infinite variety.

To exploit any one shape or style above another is impossible, since big, little and medium-sized hats are all represented in the fashion pageant.

Their predominant trait is their simplicity—that is, simplicity of line. The favored type of adornment for the moment is the big ribbon or lace bow that may be placed directly in front, on either side, in the back or under the brim. These bows, however, conceal a great deal of art in their folds. The tying of a smart bow is not for the novice.

STRAW OR SILK

Many hats are of straw or silk in soft shapes, entirely covered with embroidery in silk or wool. Flowers of crocheted wool and of leather or silk are effectively applied on crowns and brims.

This evidently is to be a 'flower season. Many small cloche shapes have the brim composed of small flowers, while others decorate the crown profusely with petals and join it to a wide brim of silk or straw.

Rosettes of silk or ribbon are a youthful form of trimming—so is the bandanna kerchief, tied loosely about the crown, with the ends tucked under or flowing off at the side.

BROWN AND TAN

Most of the small hats one sees are highly colored. Almond and Nile green, Alize, blue, orange, and the light shades of brown and tan are exceedingly popular.

When the all-black hat is seen usually it is the large picture type or a tailored affair, trimmed with a small ribbon bow or with feathers. Some of the most recent Paris importations are entirely untrimmed—their style and chic lying in their lines.

The earliest hats are of combination fabric and straw. The felt hat, so popular during the winter, is also popular for spring.

Adventures Of The Twins

The Magical Lasso

All the magicians and sorcerers got their heads together. They had a plan to catch Nancy and Nick who were riding in the Fairy Queen's magic automobile. Not that they wanted the Twins—no, that wasn't it, but they wanted the automobile very much indeed.

"They were making a lasso to lasso it, because 'Tricky' Trixio had told them that was the way they lassoed wild horses in the west."

The rope was very strong, being made of hair from a hundred lion's manes. Also it was very limber, having been oiled with oil from a hundred whales. Also it was quite magical as each one of the magicians and sorcerers had said a double charm over it.

I really don't see how the Twins ever had a chance at all to get back to Fairyland, and indeed they wouldn't have, had it not been for the Green Wizard.

He had listened to everything that was going on, and smiled to himself wisely. "Lasso indeed!" said he with a wag of his head. "We'll see about that!"

Off he strode over forests and hills until he came to South America where the parrots lived. He went straight to the king of the parrots.

"I want a hundred of your best biters, please," he asked. "A hundred parrots with the sharpest, strongest beaks."

"Certainly!" said the king obligingly.

He got them at once and strode home again.

Now this is what happened. When Light Fingers threw the lasso over the magic automobile, the hundred parrots flew down and bit the rope in a hundred places.

The Twins sped on.

Uses Bright Red Wall Paper To Cure Blues

Special to Post-Crescent
Kansas City, Mo.—If you're troubled by a secret longing to do something exciting—

If your life seems like a dreary waste of nothing but housework—Then it isn't the help of a psycho-analytical expert that you need, but some screaming red or blazing yellow wall paper in your home.

The prescription of that Miss Lucy Taylor—Dr. Taylor, let's call her, since it's a remedy for human ills that she's promoting—who lectures under the National Wall Paper Manufacturers' Association auspices.

BE VERY HECTIC!

"Buy just as gorgeous and hectic wall paper as your heart's desire," she advises housewives.

For instance, she says, if you're going to purchase wall paper, never, never say to the dealer, "I want something very plain, simple and inconspicuous," because if you do he'll know you for the hypocrite and puser you are, and also for a 1922 model.

"It's just a plain scare," says Miss Taylor, "that's kept us from decorating our homes in bright colors. True, color can be used unwisely, but at that, isn't it better to have a rip-roaring good time in an original green gown, even if it is a little out of taste, than to be perfectly proper in black—and miserable?"

DON'T OVERDO MATTERS

"Of course there are some rooms, perhaps, that ought to be decorated restfully, but who wants a whole house to be subdued and somnolent?"

"Suppose you suffer, or your husband does, from an infernally complex. The remedy's red and yellow wall paper, because those are the colors that stir people to action, that give them pep and courage."

"Or suppose you incline to be careless in dress. Then you heed bright chintz wall paper, spotted with gay birds and bright flowers, in your bedroom. It will make you feel like sprucing up every time you look at it."

"Wall paper ought to have a pattern. Plain paper says nothing, means nothing."

"The happiness of your whole family may depend on your wall paper."

MARRIAGE A LA MODE

The Scotch peasants observe many quaint customs hundreds of years old.

One is a race between the men guests, to get first from the church to the bride's home, with news that the ceremony is over. A bowl of brose and a glass of whisky are the winner's reward.

The bride always is lifted over the threshold by the bridegroom and a broom, poker and tongs are placed in her hands immediately.

By Norma Talmadge

MANNERS are the mark of the man or the woman. Good or bad, your manners classify you. Courtesy is the art of kindness to others. The kindly win kindness. Etiquette is the formula for the expression of good-breeding. Instinct helps anyone to be properly polite, but the well-informed on etiquette possess social insurance.

ON THE TRAIN

1: A gentleman steps aside to permit a woman to board a train first, and the woman precedes her male escort down the aisle of the car.

2: A man offers his seat to a woman or elderly man otherwise compelled to stand; no one should permit a man or woman carrying a child to stand for lack of a seat.

3: On the sleeping car the person having the lower berth is entitled to the seat facing forward.

4: A man chiding to meet a woman acquaintance on a train may invite her to dine with him, but whether she permits him to pay for her meal depends upon the degree of their acquaintance.

5: Parents traveling with children should not permit them to indulge in antics that will annoy other passengers.

IT'S BAD MANNERS to spread your hand baggage in the car aisle where other passengers may stumble over it.

CARE OF OVERSHOES

Cracks in rubber overshoes can be mended nicely with a piece of adhesive plaster. Warm the plaster and paste it over the worn part on the inside.

As a protection against wear, especially in the case of children's overshoes and galoshes, a piece of rubber or thick felt should be fitted into the heel and then covered with adhesive plaster. This prevents the heel from wearing out while the rest of the overshoe is comparatively good.

When rubbers begin to look rusty they can be brightened by applying with a flannel cloth a little vasoline or sweet oil. If they are very old and rusty, dress them with patent leather polish, or other shoe polish, and they will look like new.

At a distance she had appeared unusually neat, well-groomed, immaculate. But their first face-to-face meeting brought an unexpected discovery.

So many people over-look this one matter of fastidiousness. And do so in spite of the fact that in conversation the teeth are the one most noticeable thing about you.

People instinctively watch your lips—and naturally, your teeth—when you are speaking. If teeth are dull, stained or unkempt looking, they immediately mark you as a careless, ill-groomed person. Your stock goes down. So properly cleaned teeth are really more than a matter of good taste.

SHEBOYGAN PROTESTED, APPLETON MAY BE CHAMPS

USED INELIGIBLE PLAYER, DECLARES SHIP CITY SCHOOL

"Pete" Briese Also Attacked But Claim Is To Be Dismissed

Appleton high school, runners-up in the Fox River High School Athletic conference basketball race, may be awarded the championship of central and eastern Wisconsin as the result of complications cropping up in a sensational basketball "scandal and war" which may cost Sheboygan, present champions, several of its games.

Rumors of a protest of several games because of the alleged ineligibility of one of Sheboygan's players were confirmed Thursday by P. F. Neeverman, Marinette, president of the board of control of the Wisconsin Inter-Scholastic Athletic association, under whose auspices the Fox River wheel had played. The protest was made by Manitowish school officials, according to Mr. Neeverman. Charges were that Testwilde, the Chair City center, is still a member of the team and a student of the school though he was entitled to graduate at the end of the first semester.

"NOT INTENTIONAL"
According to a personal investigation, Testwilde, should have been out of school though he doesn't think that Sheboygan officials retained the player intentionally. Testwilde, it seems got his passing marks in all but one study. Mr. Neeverman declared that as far as he was concerned he would declare all second semester games played by Sheboygan in which the center took part as forfeited. Official action is to be taken, he said as soon as he heard from F. O. Holt, Edgerton, and V. G. Barnes, Madison, other members of the board who are at present in Cleveland attending a conference of educators. He said that he wired Mr. Holt and Mr. Barnes of the situation.

BRIESE IS PROTESTED
Another matter that the board of control is to take up will be the eligibility of Harold Briese, the Appleton guard, charges having been forwarded by Oshkosh on the eve of the last Oshkosh-Appleton game. Oshkosh declared that Briese had been in the school more than four years and was not entitled to play in further athletic events. Oshkosh, however, changed its mind later when Principal Rasby proved that though Briese had taken part for four years in football this was his fourth basketball season and under the athletic association rules is eligible to play in the caging department. Mr. Neeverman declared that the charges against Appleton would be taken up as a matter of formality and then dismissed.

While Appleton officials are awaiting notification of the ruling which will give this city the district championship, students are stated, over the news. A silver cup, awarded to Sheboygan by a Fond du Lac newspaper, will be transferred to Appleton, it is understood.

FOUR TEAMS LAND IN COLOR LEAGUE

Denney Selecting Performers For Future First And Second Teams

Four teams are tied for first place in the Color league of the Appleton high school, which Coach Denney has introduced as means of giving more than 40 students a chance at ball tossing but also as a way of selecting material for his future fives. Already a number of the undergraduate performers have been called to act as substitutes on the second team, which next year falls heir to the boots to be left vacant by the first squad.

Games are played on Saturday and during the middle of the week. Standings today:

Pocket billiard players attention! A challenge has been issued by the Carr and Hansen billiard room in behalf of the team of Drexler and Liethen for a 200 point match with any other team in the Fox River valley. Drexler and Liethen are members of different teams vying for the laurels in the city tournament conducted by the Carr and Hansen room and the boys are about the best class, according to past performances. Drexler has a high run record of 32 while Liethen gathered up 41 balls. The boys are willing to meet any team in Neenah, Menasha, Oshkosh, Kaukauna or in any other nearby city. The match is to be divided into two blocks with 100 points to be played on the home tables of each of the teams. Appleton teams will not be barred.

Interfactory Basket Championship Hanging In Air; "Dope" Spilled

Neenah Kimberly-Clark Quint Fails To "Cinch" Flag As Fox River Wins Tilt—Triple Tie Is Possible

WEDNESDAY NIGHT'S GAMES

Neenah Kimberly-Clark 36, Kimberly-Clark 4. Sigma Fraternity 29, Y. M. C. A. 8. Fox River Paper Co. 16, Neenah Kimberly-Clark 7.

The "dope" was spilled in the Interfactory Basketball league Wednesday night when the fast Neenah Kimberly-Clark basketball team was downed 16 to 7 by the Fox River Paper Co. centers in one of the two games the "Twin City" visitors took part and the result the Neenah first lost its chance to "cinch" or at least go into tie for first place with the Badger Furnace Co. aggregation. In its other game the Neenah papermakers defeated the Kimberly-Clark team of Appleton 36 to 4.

Because of its victory over the Y. M. C. A. 29 to 8, the Sigma Fraternity climbed to fourth place from the cellar position.

HANGING IN AIR
Though the official schedule was completed Wednesday night the race, due to postponed games, is far from decided. There is a possibility for the first three leaders to go into a tie for first place.

Badger Furnace players, present leaders have a game with the Sigma Fraternity five, Fox River, though in third place, has a chance to go into first if it can win the two postponed games with Sigma outfit and the Y. M. C. A.

GET SURPRISE
The defeat of the Neenah Kimberly-Clark outfit at the hands of the Fox River was one of the biggest surprises of the season. The Neenah men entered the game apparently a bit overconfident as the result of the overwhelming victory over the Kimberly-Clark outfit. The Fox River was greatly strengthened by the addition of Elmer Dunn as forward. The Neenah team got its jolt in the first few minutes of playing when Dunn and Center Kanouse each walked through the visitor's defense for easy baskets.

Postponed games will be played some time next week, according to A. P. Jensen, Y. M. C. A. athletic director, under whose auspices the league has been playing.

SPORT VIEWS AND NEWS

Promoter Elmer Johnston is satisfied that the headlines he has booked for the boxing card on March 7 will give the fans a mighty good show for their money. He has a lot of confidence in Jack Duffy and he is greatly impressed with the work of Gunner Joe Quinn. There are quite a number of people who would have preferred to see Wolpin matched with Quinn but Johnston figured that Duffy would be the better man because he is more of the same type of fighter as Quinn.

Down in Hortonville they make baseball a community venture. A businessmen's association was organized a few days ago with two principle objects in view and one of these is to take care of the village's baseball fortunes. Hortonville was a member of the county league last year and probably will be in the circuit again the coming season. The sport surely must have a strong hold on the people if the whole town backs it.

Ever Hammer failed to live up to his name in his bout with Sid Berberian in Detroit the other night. He tried to butt his way to a victory. As a result, the go was stopped in the fifth round by the referee and the next day Hammer was fined a cool thousand by the Detroit Boxing commission.

Purdue's basketball squad must have had its basketball toes on in the game against Ohio State when the Beiler makers piled up a count of 33 to 20 over the Buckeyes. This count established a new high record for Western conference basketball. In these days of close guarding the total piled up by Purdue is all the more remarkable. No wonder it slipped a win over Wisconsin.

In Fond du Lac the sport followers are engaged in a civil war. The city basketball championship series between the Legion and Cardinals gets under way Thursday night and on Friday night Saturday. Feeling is running high between the squads and the rival rosters are reported to be just as hostile. It is expected that two thousand plus crowds will attend the games.

MARQUETTE WINS GREAT CAGE GAME FROM CARROLL

Waukesha — Two sensational field goals by Devine and J. Klumb, a pair of Hilltop substitutes, being the score in the last two minutes of play, following a scoreless overtime period

WRESTLING MATCH BETWEEN GAMES IS DRAWING INTEREST

Tappert Will Have Hands Full When He Meets Mac Keiseck Friday

While the first and second teams of the high school are drilling daily in preparation of the last game of the season with Neenah Friday night in Armory G. William Tappert, the Appleton school granter is preparing for his end of the entertainment Friday night when he will wrestle Robert McKeiseck, eastern scholastic heavy-weight wrestler, who is now attending the Neenah high school.

Although the caging games are overshadowing the mat work yet the wrestling match is causing considerable interest in high school athletic circles.

BOTH EXPERIENCED
Bill will have his hands full, that's the general impression. Tappert weighs only 170 pounds while his opponent scales 190. Both lads have had experience. Mac Keiseck at the Lawrenceville, N. J. academy and Tappert in several Armory G. contests with some of the best lads in the vicinity.

Bill is training in the high school gymnasium while the teams practice in the armory. Among Tappert's sparring partners are Robert Joyce, a 165 pound high school boy and who is no slouch himself in the grappling game and Arnold Turvis, former end on the Blue and Orange eleven and a graduate of the high school.

The doubleheader Friday night will be between the first and seconds of Neenah and Appleton schools. The curtain raiser is scheduled for 7:35.

EXPECT BIG DELEGATION

Neenah—Neenah high school journeys to Appleton Friday evening in the return game with Coach Denney's warriors. According to reports at the local school, several hundred students will accompany the team to lend moral support in an effort to down the former Neenah athletic master's five.

In the contest a few weeks ago the size of the Appleton men and Denney's recognized ability as a coach frightened the Jonassons so they could not even make free throws. Coach Jonas states that the fracas this weekend will be entirely different as his cagers have more confidence in themselves and are determined to give the Appleton quint a run for their money.

A win over Appleton at this time will do much in giving the local lads confidence for the district tournament at Oshkosh. Providing they can slip in a victory, they should have little difficulty in emerging from the Oshkosh tournament with high honors.

HE CAN SHOOT

GEORGE KENNEDY, THE TALL ONE.

Kansas City—It's a long story defeated teams have to tell about Chillietho, the Business college's basketball scoring machine, for George Kennedy who does this scoring, is seven feet ten in his gym shoes.

Chillietho, thanks to Kennedy, is having all sorts of fun in the Missouri State conference. He's a forward, and sounds by the basket. The rest of the team play to him, and once he gets it, he drops a field goal without interference from opposing guards.

Kennedy, who is 17, is shown beside a teammate who is five feet ten. The elongated youth is leading the conference in scoring and clinching the title for Chillietho.

Two Hundred Schools Will Vie For State Caging Championship

Six More Teams Than Usual Number Of Entries Will Vie At Final Tournament At Madison This Month

Madison — The representation of high school basketball teams which will be at Madison for the annual tournament to be held on March 22, 23 and 24 this year is larger by six teams than any of the previous years. The great number of schools playing under W. I. C. A. this year will necessitate the creation of six new districts throughout the state. The ten normal school tournaments will be held as usual and 16 tournaments will be held at various points in the state. The elimination district tournaments will be held during the week ends of March 8, 9 and 10 in which there will probably be entered more than 200 teams.

NORTH IS STRONG
While southern Wisconsin teams have been coming along creditably through the winter schedule, reports from the north tend to indicate particularly strong teams. In years past the northern teams have had the edge in the tournaments.

Sheboygan high school looks to be a likely competitor for first honors in the tournament with a long string of Fox valley victories to its credit. There is a wealth of good material in the Fox valley and victories over such teams as Appleton, state champions in 1921, Oshkosh and Fond du Lac, mean much.

La Crosse, from its showing against the Madison schools looks good for high honors. Both the Central high and the Wisconsin high school teams have felt the sting of defeat at the hands of LaCrosse.

MADISON IS CONTENDER
The Madison high schools, always to be reckoned with in the championship decisions, will be sent to different districts for the first time this year. In former years, the schools went to the same tournament and one of the two strongest teams in the state was always eliminated from entrance in the Madison tourney.

Other teams which have had records for the season which will warrant strong consideration are Rhinelander, of the Rhinelander district, Milton, Union, of the Whitewater district, and Superior Central of the Superior district.

Rhinelander and Superior have both figured in tournaments at Madison in former years and have always been near the top of the percentage column. A list of the various districts where preliminary tournaments will be held follows:

Milwaukee, Marinette, River Falls, Ashland, La Crosse, Appleton, Watertown, Rhinelander, Platteville, Oshkosh, Whitewater, Stevens Point, Eau Claire, Two Rivers, Stout district, and Brodhead.

BASKETBALL CHALLENGE TAKES IN LARGE FIELD

Taking in a lot of territory, the basketball team representing the laboratory and statistical departments of the Kimberly-Clark mill at Kimberly have challenged the best team that can be picked from the remainder of the W. I. C. A. gymnasium next Saturday evening. The challenge was accepted and a team has been picked from the four teams which competed in the mill tournament last week. The finishing room squad won this tourney and it is probable the all-star team will represent this department.

MENASHA TEAM WILL ROLL ON ELK FLOORS TONIGHT

Six Menasha teams, composed of some of the best bowlers in this section of the state are to invade Appleton Thursday night in an effort to change the folks leaders. Due to rituals at the clubhouse Wednesday there was no bowling.

Open Bids

The bids for the new business block to be erected by Denko & Court at the corner of Appleton and Harris-st. were opened Monday evening and are now under consideration by the firm. Eighteen were submitted 17 of which were by local contractors. The general average of the bids was higher than the company anticipated.
